VB seeks control of sewer needs

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Van Buren Township has picked up support in its quest to control the capacity in the Downriver sewer system to which it is entitled.

The City of Ecorse has agreed to a resolution proposed by Van Buren which would require the Wayne County Road Commission to assign communities tied into the Downriver sewer system a percentage of the total treatment capacity rather than a fixed sum agreed to when the downriver system was formed several years ago.

The Ecorse agreement came during a meeting requested by Van Buren, to discuss the future of the system. There were officials from 13 downriver communities and the Wayne County Road Commission, which manages the operation.

"We're looking for input from other communities on the problem," explained Van Buren Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer. "Van Buren is worried that sometime in the future it will be forced to buy 'extra' capacity in a system which its tax dollars helped build in the first place."

"We think other communities should be concerned about the same problem, and called the meeting to find out what they think."

At the meeting, Van Buren discussed a proposed resolution calling for a proportional division of the approximately one-third increase in capacity the Wayne County Road Commission has been able to build into the system with the use of tax funds from the individual communities.

Under the plan, Van Buren would "own" approximately 2.3 percent of the total capacity of the system, or 7.8 cubic feet.

Under the original agreement, Van Buren was assigned approximately 5 cubic feet.

However, since that time, the total capacity of the sewage treatment plant has been increased from approximately 250 cubic feet to better than 330 cubic feet.

According to Van Buren's understanding of the road commission's operation of the plant, the road commission has retained "title" to the 80-cubic-foot increase in capacity and has offered to sell that extra capacity to other communities, so long as the original 13 communities involved in the system agree to such a sale.

"We believe each community should have control over its individual 'share' of the treatment system based on the amount of funds it put into the operation and construction of the system," Gollwitzer said. "In that manner, it would be up to individual communities to sell what they think is the excess capacity they own in the system rather than permitting the road commission to make that decision."

Gollwitzer admitted that the problem of capacity isn't the same for all communities in the system.

"Romulus, for example, probably owns more capacity now than it will need to care for its future needs," Gollwitzer said. "But in the case of Van Buren Township, we see a time when our present capacity will not be sufficient to cover our needs."

"For that reason, we'd like to retain title to the entire share of the capacity we helped build rather than the original capacity we contracted for."

"In the case of Romulus, we still believe it is to that community's benefit to control the added capacity, since Romulus could have the option of selling it if it wasn't needed."

"At any rate, we're looking for more control over our destiny in the downriver system, and are trying to convince other communities that it's to their benefit, too."

"We'll give the communities time to mull over the situation and then ask them for some input."

'Buffer zone demand unreasonable' says Stewart

Battle over park development looms between mayor, residents

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus Mayor James C. Stewart may be willing to "do battle" with a group of dissident residents who he claims are standing in the way of progress for a large portion of the community.

Stewart said he is upset with "a half dozen residents" who are holding up approval of a state grant for the construction of the new Cogswell Recreation Area on Cogswell Road near Wahrman in Romulus.

"These residents were given a verbal promise by a former politician that they'd receive 25 feet of city land to help buffer their homes from the recreation area," Stewart said. "And now they've gone before the city council in an attempt to make it live up to this unwritten promise."

Stewart said the request of the families is "ludicrous because we aren't in the business to give away city land to private individuals."

"What they are asking is illegal, and I can't do it," he added.

Stewart added that the families are being unreasonable in their request because the activity area of the park, from which they'd like some form of a "buffer zone," is better than 100 feet from their homes.

"We've planned a berm and a greenbelt for the park to ensure that residents aren't disturbed by the activity, and yet, these people want more," Stewart said.

"The council held a special meeting on the issue and the matter was taken to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), which has indicated that the plans for the park cannot be changed, or the city will lose $65,000 in grants from the state for construction," the mayor said.

Stewart was one of the officials who went before the DNR, the funding authority for state park construction grant programs.

"During the meeting, the DNR indicated that our money was awaiting a decision by the council, so it's up to the council to say what it wants to do on the question," Stewart said. "If the council gives the go-ahead to build the park as planned now, we'll get the money."

"If it doesn't we lose the money." The grant makes up almost 20 percent of the funding needed for full development of the park, according to Stewart. However, the mayor said that without state funds "the park is dead for this year."

"And we may not receive any funding afterwards, because the pool of money set aside for such programs is dwindling," he added.

Stewart said it is time to "stand up to these people, who are holding up the good of the city for their small concerns" and to move ahead on construction of the park.

"We have contractors waiting to work on the park, and bids which are firm for another 30 days," Stewart said. "For that reason we should move ahead."

Stewart said he is holding out on honoring the families' request "because to honor it would set a precedent which the city couldn't keep up."

"What if every family which bordered a park asked for another 25 feet of city land on which to extend their fence as a 'buffer zone' from that park?" Stewart said. "The city would lose acres of usable park land."

And in Stewart's opinion, it's the majority of the city which will lose in the current tussle.

"This was going to be the first city-owned and lighted Little League baseball field at Cogswell Park," the mayor said. "Without the funding, the Little League could lose that valuable ball diamond."

The park has been in the planning stages for better than a year after a developer in the area agreed to donate land to the city as part of a subdivision development scheme.

The land was deeded to the city during the Terry L. Troutt administration and the paperwork on the recreation grant for the construction of the park was prepared at that time.

It was the 10th anniversary of the Romulus Senior Citizens and they were feted royally by the Airport Hilton Inn last week. Supported by the Romulus Recreation Department, the seniors were guests at lunch and were entertained by

Mayor vows court start by January

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

The mayor of Romulus has pledged that work will begin on a new 34th District Court building for five communities in Wayne County before Jan. 1.

Mayor James C. Stewart said recently that the work of the "ad hoc" committee studying construction of a new 34th District Court building is nearing completion, and that Romulus, the community designated to build the new court, is ready to request construction bids on the proposal.

"If there are no more delays in the program, I'd say we'll be working by Jan. 1," Stewart said. "We're looking for approval from the communities involved in the ad hoc committee either to form a district council, which would authorize borrowing money to build the court, or will authorize construction of the facility under the recently approved federal public works program."

Only Sumpter Township has failed to sign an agreement establishing a committee of representatives from Sumpter, Van Buren and Huron Townships along with Belleville and Romulus representatives to supervise the operation of the court.

Likewise, Sumpter has not signed an agreement to pursue funding of court construction through the public works bill.

But Stewart indicated he is not concerned about the technical problem, since Sumpter apparently has agreed to help in constructing the court.

"I'd say we're in pretty good shape," Stewart said. "There is a bank interested in financing the project at a low interest rate if the federal funds cannot be obtained to finance construction."

"So the funds will be available to cover the costs either way the construction program goes."

Under the plan, Romulus would become "owner" of the court if construction is undertaken by the community itself.

Communities involved in the operation of the court would help defray the interest costs on borrowing funds for the court construction while Romulus would cover the principal payments on the loan.

As for the other alternative, communities involved in court operations would share in "ownership" of the court if federal funds are found to cover construction costs.

"We're eager to get this thing going in Romulus, because the Wayne County Road Commission wants to pay the city for the land on which the existing 34th District Court is located," Stewart said. "The sooner the road commission and the city can agree on a price, the sooner the funds for the court can be used to provide some badly needed community improvements."

Church program called unique

The St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus has just completed a special two-week religious education program for youngsters in the parish which is geared to fill in what may be a deficiency in young Catholics' educational process.

A "Young People's Bible Class" was conducted by 22-year-old Judy Klein, who said she hoped the class would fill an apparent void in children's understanding of the Bible and its meaning.

"You see Protestants sending their children to Bible School during the summer months to enrich their understanding of Christianity," said Miss Klein. "But it's very seldom you see such a program in the Catholic Church."

According to Miss Klein, who had served as a volunteer lay missionary in New Mexico for a year, the program is designed to "give the children some enjoyment and create a happy time while reinforcing their understanding of some of the ideas of Christianity."

Each of the class sessions, held during the past two weeks, centered on a "theme" around which youngsters aged 6-11 would participate in various group activities to detail their ideas on that topic.

"An example is the class dealing with forgiveness," Miss Klein explained. "When we discussed that topic, the children were shown a film strip dealing with forgiveness, read a Bible story dealing with the topic entitled the Prodigal Son and then acted out a play on the same topic."

"The class is designed to build a happy atmosphere for the children under which the theme of that class is better absorbed."

"This isn't a demanding study and memorization program, but a reinforcement in religious education for children during the summer."

Miss Klein said the program is structured around a similar activity practiced during her year as a lay missionary in New Mexico.

"If it worked for youngsters in the Southwest, there was no reason why it shouldn't work for them in this area," she said. "I'm hoping the program can be continued each summer at St. Aloysius to help the children better understand their religion."

The program was culminated Friday with an outdoor mass celebrated on the St. Aloysius Church grounds in Romulus.

During the mass, youngsters performed a puppet skit around a religious idea and made offerings at the altar of goods they constructed during their two weeks of classes.

Some 30 youngsters participated in the class, which was approved by the St. Aloysius Catholic Church Council following a presentation by Miss Klein.

With the completion of the classes, she said the program will be reevaluated and hopefully continued each year.

Port Huron serves as a maritime commerce center and gateway to Canada. Near the Blue Water Bridge, historical markers indicate the site of Fort St. Joseph, built in 1686 by explorer Daniel Joseph Duluth. It was abandoned two years later but during the War of 1812, because of French and Indian activities around Detroit, Gen. William Henry Harrison ordered another fort built. Fort Gratiot was completed in the summer of 1814 and was used periodically until 1879.

The Romulus Community Mart ended its season on an inspirational "high note" this past weekend with a performance by the Romulus Bicentennial Choir.

The future of the Mart is clouded for next year after what organizers called a "mediocre season."

Moose adds new members

Seven new members have been added to the ranks of Belleville Lodge 934 of the Loyal Order of the Moose, following a recent enrollment ceremony at the Moose Home on Aug. 21.

Joining the fraternal organization's roster were Marcus Conley, Ermil Jones, Thomas Kobleck, Terrance Paulsen, Stanley Podczervinski and David Ruby. Jones was the class representation for the ceremony.

rainfall, but they all can be traveled throughout the summer by portaging scattered shallow sections.

Canoeists looking for a wilderness adventure will find it on the Belle River within 40 miles of metropolitan Detroit — especially the stretch from Memphis to Gratiot Avenue. There are gradually more signs of civilization as you approach the stream's mouth on the St. Clair River at Marine City.

Below the dam at Memphis is a city park where many canoeists put in for a 6-hour trek down the Belle to the roadside park on Gratiot Avenue. Beautiful scenery, views of wildlife and clear water afford the rugged canoeist a pleasant day's outing.

The river runs through wooded and marshy areas which provide a natural haven for waterfowl. Along this unspoiled and tranquil route, the water is so clear you can see the fish.

Anglers will find good catches of smallmouth bass and northern pike.

Canoeists putting in at Gratiot Avenue and traveling to the public access site at Marine City will pass through more wooded areas, marshlands and farm country before reaching town.

Although the Belle extends west of Memphis, the river is too narrow and shallow to begin canoeing any farther upstream.

In the Port Huron area, both novice and experienced canoeists can choose from a variety of itineraries ranging from two hours to two days. The Black River suits all skill levels depending on the season and length of trip. Its tributary, Mill Creek, may entice the hardy adventurer who wants to explore a stream along a primitive tract.

Although the Black River extends as far north as Minden City, canoeing is only recommended along the 35 miles between Croswell and Port Huron.

The starting point for a 2-day trip is Croswell, known as the "Garden Spot of the Thumb" because of the surrounding rich farmland. The town's unique feature is a swinging footbridge, named "Be Good to Your Mother-in-Law," which crosses the Black at Maple Street. The city park below the dam has a launch site for beginning the journey.

South of Croswell, farm country dominates the river's path until entering the Port Huron Game Area. Here canoeists will see deer, beaver and waterfowl.

Other Black River access points are located near Blaine at the edge of the game area and at the I-94 bridge near Port Huron.

Concert planned

Gospel singer Danniebell Hall will appear in concert at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 11 at Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor, sponsored by the Huron Valley Youth for Christ.

A lead vocalist with Andrae Crouch and the Disciples, her singing has been heard at Carnegie Hall in New York City, McCormick Place in Chicago, Ill., and the Sydney Opera House in Sydney, Australia. She also has appeared in the Philippines, Cambodia, Thailand and Vietnam.

Miss Hall's talents also include playing the piano and composing, singing and arranging much of her own works.

The concert will be free to the public.

Portaging is necessary at Ford's Dam, the old mill dam at Wadhams and at places where trees obstruct the riverbed or gravel has built up in the mid-summer.

Riverside Marina in Port Huron rents canoes for short trips in which canoeists will mingle with sailors and boaters on the Black River as they pass beautiful riverside homes and large marinas.

A daylong trip takes in portions of the Port Huron Game Area and a scenic area north of Ruby, called Beard's Hill.

Mill Creek, which meets the Black at Ruby, is definitely for the backwoods adventurer. The river has not been chartered for canoeing, but experienced paddlers can traverse the section that runs from Yale to Ruby. Launch sites are located at the city park in Yale and at fishing stations at Avoca and Ruby.

In contrast to the natural wildlife habitats and farm country of the inland streams, the St. Clair River is a major shipping thoroughfare connecting Lakes Huron and St.

Summer fun

The annual picnic for participants in the Romulus summer recreation program brought out the best in the youngsters who attended the outdoor fun fest at Willow Creek Metropark recently. Everything from playing with a softball to hair styling was on tap for the picnickers with some of the youngsters finding fun in jumping rope and kicking a ball. Debbie Holton, 10, of Romulus (above), took her turn skipping the revolving rope, while 5-year-old Jamie Bray (below), showed the ball who was in control. —Photos by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

Green nets state post

Belleville resident William R. Green has been installed as a state representative to represent the Belleville Chapter of the Order of the DeMolay, of which he is a member.

The installation took place Aug. 14 at the Michigan DeMolay State Conclave, held at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

Green is one of 80 DeMolays throughout the state who was elected by his fellow chapter members to represent them at state DeMolay functions.

Concentrated vocational available for adults

The Huron School District will be offering Romulus area residents the benefits of its Concentrated Vocational Program.

The school district will offer vocational classes in such skills as architectural drafting, auto collision, auto mechanics, data processing, health occupations, office training, machine trades and small engine repair.

The courses are designed to offer instruction through actual experiences in working with the types of equipment and machinery used in industry today.

Seniors prepare for Toronto party

Senior Citizens from area communities will be whisking off to the city of Toronto, Canada on Sept. 16-18 on the Toronto Party Bus being sponsored by the Romulus Senior Citizens.

"We encourage and invite all senior citizens from neighboring communities to come and join us," said Wilma Pomroy, acting chairman for the fall trip.

The seniors will spend three days and two nights at the Chelsea Inn, which features restaurant, piano lounge, indoor swimming pool, saunas, color television with in-room movies, walking distance from Toronto nightlife, including shopping centers, theatres, and the Maple Leaf Gardens.

The seniors itinerary will include sightseeing trips of the city of Toronto, dinner at the famous Spaghetti Factory, and a tour of the Science Center.

Cost per person for a double occupancy room at the Chelsea Inn is $73. A $25 deposit per person is requested for the trip and interested persons are asked to contact the Romulus Recreation Department at 941-0666 for more information.

The aim of the program is to upgrade the skills of laborers who either want to switch jobs or learn a job skill.

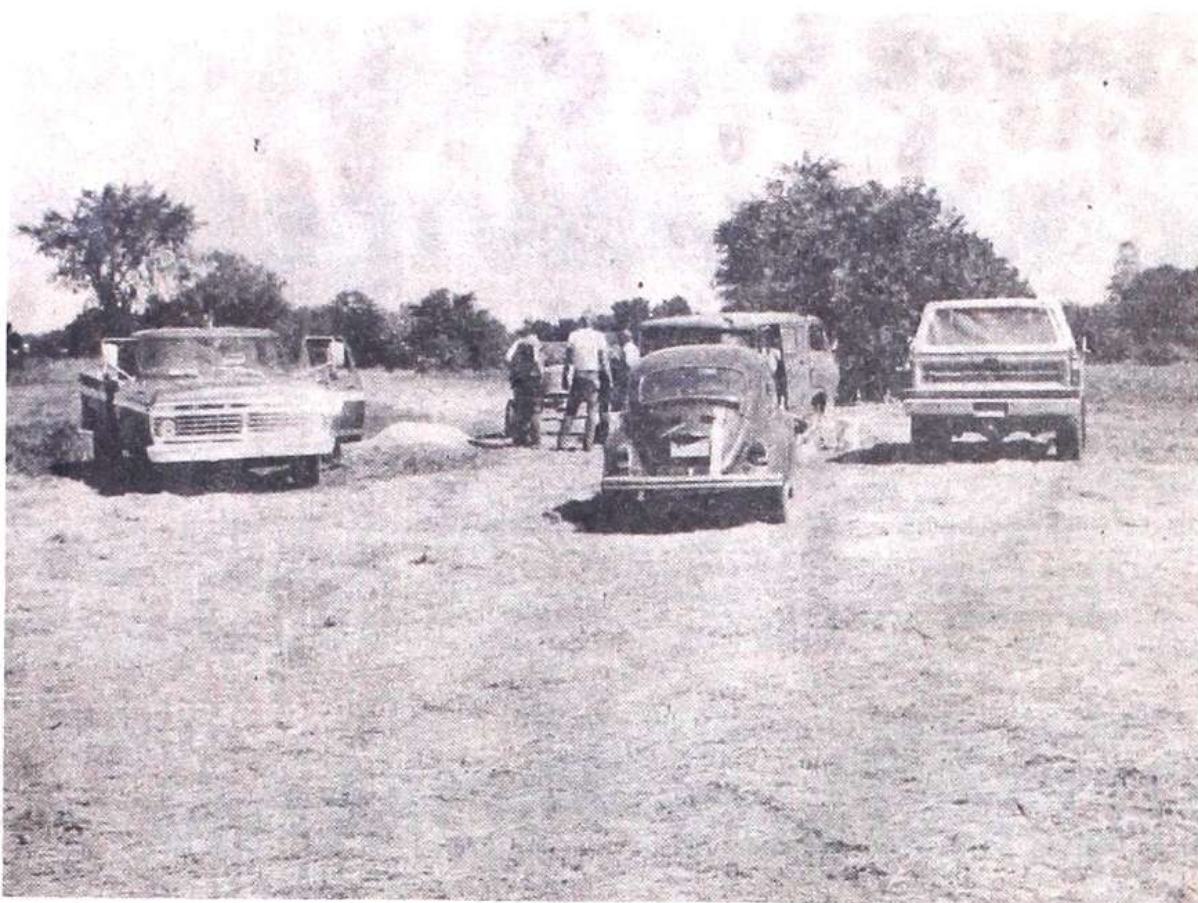

The classes are teaching one particular job skill with employment as the goal.

A companion program is the Work Experience Program, designed to offer currently-employed students credits toward a high school diploma for the education they received on the job.

Any adult working toward a high school diploma who is currently employed either full or part-time is eligible for the program.

Registration for the programs is under way at Huron High School.

County commissioners back higher federal tax return

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has unanimously supported Board Chairman John Barr's resolution asking for a higher return of federal tax dollars to Michigan.

Barr's resolution calls upon Gov. William Milliken to lead a coalition of Great Lakes States, demanding a fairer distribution of federal tax money.

Currently, Michigan receives a smaller return than any other state, Barr charged. He said Michigan's loss is in excess of $5 billion for 1975.

"For every dollar we pay in taxes to the U.S. treasury, Michigan gets back only 65 cents," Barr said. "Other states, more affluent than we, receive far in excess of the amount they pay in. This is a giant rip-off that we must correct—the sooner, the better."

"While the Great Lakes States lost 3 billion in 1975, the 'Sunbelt' states received a surplus of $11.5 billion last year," he said. "I have asked Gov. Milliken to lead the Great Lakes States in a campaign to reverse the practice which is a horrible maldistribution of our federal tax dollars."

"It's obvious the financial squeeze generated by the imbalance of payments is contributing to our staggering tax burden and is causing serious reductions in government services."

"I am gratified that our county commissioners, Democrats and Republicans alike, unanimously support me in calling for this economic justice to be relieved."

In addition, Barr has petitioned the municipalities and townships in the county, the State Legislature, the Michigan Association of Counties, the Michigan Municipal League and the Michigan Township Association to join the the rally to bring more federal tax dollars into Michigan.

Students end studies, gain college degrees

Several residents of the Belleville-Romulus community have completed their collegiate studies and received their "sheep skins" from two major universities in the State of Michigan.

At Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, Pam Magiere, the daughter of F. R. Magiere of 20705 Vining, was among 42 students who graduated from the university's Nursing Program.

Miss Magiere received her bachelor of science degree at the second annual commencement exercise, held Aug. 15.

As a graduate of the program, she now is eligible to qualify as a registered nurse with the Michigan State Board of Nursing.

Degree candidates at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor included several residents of the two Western Wayne County communities.

Romulus residents being considered for diplomas are Richard D. Yagley of 8291 Wahram, master of arts degree; Aaron Cross of 35431 Vinewood, bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering; Michael Cross also of Vinewood, bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering; John Gray of 35853 Garner, master of arts degree; and Daretha McIntyre of 6563 Dexter, bachelor of general studies degree.

The Belleville residents up for degrees at the Ann Arbor university are Paul Seal of 48490 Denton Road, bachelor of science degree in education; Anthony Schroeder of 50333 Willis Road, doctor of philosophy degree; John De Franco of 48510 Denton Road, master of science degree in engineering; Michael Humphreys of 25082 Sumpter Road, bachelor of general studies degree; Dale Kaulitz of 12662 Stanley Road, bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering; Robert Lenell of 48691 I-94 Service Drive, master of science degree in engineering; William Marlow of 975 Sumpter Road, master of science degree; Dennis Miller of 13273 Lakepoint Blvd., master of music degree; Cathy Muha of 508 Wayside, bachelor of fine arts degree; and Barbara Stahl of Belleville, master of fine arts degree.

The first big city use of central electric power came on Sept. 4, 1882 when New York City's Pearl Street Generating Station started moving current to surrounding buildings. Thomas Edison opened his Edison Electric Illuminating Co. for business on Pearl Street with just 85 customers and a total capacity of only 400 lamps. For safety's sake, it was powered by just one of its two jumbo dynamos. A scale model of the Pearl Street Station now is on display in Henry Ford Museum. In Greenfield Village, the jumbo dynamo that was originally used there is housed in the Edison Illuminating Co. Building.

WIC program opens at Sumpter Center

A high nutrition food program, called Women, Infants and Children (WIC) for pregnant women, nursing mothers and young children now is available to a substantial number of out-county residents.

Pregnant or breastfeeding women and infants or preschool children found to be nutritionally deficient will be eligible for the WIC supplementary food program, which is sponsored by the Wayne County Health Department.

Supplementary foods which are high in protein, iron and calcium such as milk, cheese, eggs, fruit juices, cereals and baby formula will be offered — without cost to selected individuals. Information about good diets and healthy foods also will be available.

Medical research has found that the diet of an expectant mother is very important to her health during pregnancy. Good nutrition for infants and young children is necessary to guarantee proper growth and development.

Once a mother becomes eligible for WIC she will be issued coupons which will entitle her to buy the selected foods at any participating food store.

Individuals interested in participating in the program can call the South Health Center at 287-2400, or the Sumpter PRESCAD Center, 24101 Sumpter Road, at 697-9455.

Huron River fate lies with state

LOCAL RESIDENTS who utilize the three parks operated by the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA), or who live along the region's most valuable natural resource, the Huron River, may find themselves literally wallowing in Washtenaw County's treated sewage.

If a Michigan Water Resources Commission ruling allowing Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township to operate two separate sewage treatment plants is allowed to stand, local residents can be assured that the river water which supports fishing and recreation from Van Buren Township to Pointe Mouillee just south of Flat Rock, will consist almost entirely of treated sewage.

It's assured because Ann Arbor and the two Ypsilantis draw virtually all of the water in the Huron through their water systems for use by the public before putting it back.

And the water resources commission has ruled that the three communities can continue to utilize that same river to carry their treated waste through Belleville, Huron, Van Buren Township and Flat Rock to Lake Erie.

The approval was a victory of sorts for the City of Ann Arbor, which has been lobbying for its own form of "local control" over its destiny ever since the Wayne County Road Commission began pushing for the so-called "Supersewer" waste water treatment plan. The supersewer does what the State of Michigan and the federal government have said is a "must" for Southeastern Michigan. The "supersewer" plan would have resulted in the construction of better than 61 miles of massive pipeline to take waste underground from points in southern Oakland County and in Washtenaw County as far as Ann Arbor to a regional treatment plant to be built in Flat Rock.

Under the plan, the treated waste, which the water resources group now says can flow in open rivers through Wayne County communities, would be discharged at least two miles into Lake Erie—in an area where treated wastes can be more efficiently dispersed and naturally cleansed by the lake.

But the water resources group, buying Ann Arbor's specious argument that such a plan would damage Lake Erie, has opted for a plan which would allow the wastes to be carried in the Huron River through Wayne County—and three metropolitan parks established with a quarter-mill tax levy to capitalize on the natural recreational resource of the river.

Ignored was the fact that the water which would have been carried by the supersewer to a treatment plant past most of the area's parks and dumped into Lake Erie is the same water which will now be carried by the river to Lake Erie through the parks.

Either way, Lake Erie will be defiled, but with the supersewer the theory is that the lake would have a better chance to recover.

What is hidden behind the controversy is Ann Arbor's attempt to save itself money on the short term at the expense of virtually every community south of that university town.

Since Ann Arbor now draws most of its water from the Huron River, and recirculates that water back to the river through its sewage treatment plant, the damage of utilizing the relatively limited flow of the Huron for the burgeoning needs of Ann Arbor is hidden. The same amount of water which hits Ann Arbor's borders flows past its downriver boundary. Only it's been "used" for sanitary, industrial and life sustaining purposes first, and is "cleaned" as best it can be by machinery.

If the trend were changed by the supersewer, and the water taken from the river for Ann Arbor's use was diverted underground through a large conduit, the "take and put back" scheme of the city which, in effect, obscures the extent of that city's use of the water, would be revealed.

The potential is that the Huron River would turn into a creek, and residents downriver would become concerned about their "natural resource."

The alternative for Ann Arbor to sustain its population, would be for the community to do as others have done in the area, and tap the Great Lakes for their water resources, either through the Metro Detroit Water Board or another system.

That alternative, particularly for taking water as far inland as Ann Arbor, is very costly, and can be avoided by continuing the practice as it is now.

Then an alternate water plan would have to be used at a great cost in the future—a cost today's politicians won't have to answer for.

And because the future isn't any concern for politicians elected every two years, the expediency of the Ann Arbor water treatment plan may stand today, regardless of what it does to Wayne County, until Ann Arbor has to do what other communities have done in obtaining their water.

The only question remaining is what will be the cost in the future, when Ann Arbor has to act as responsibly as other communities.

Commonsense Views on Uncommon Issues

Help your own first

By HARRY R. HALL

Retired President

Michigan State Chamber of Commerce

THE OLYMPIAN efforts of the athletes of the world's nations every four years is like the games at the annual Sunday school picnic compared to the fierce competition that occurs daily between the cities and states to secure and hold job producing industries.

Our political leaders in Michigan seem to forget or ignore the influence their actions have on this unbridled battle for urgently needed payrolls. From 16 years of concerned observation, it is my opinion that this is inadvertent in some instances and intentional in others. For any reason it is inexcusable.

With disheartening frequency legislation is passed that imposes job-killing costs on doing business in Michigan and then more money is allocated to the Department of Economic Expansion for advertising in national effects of their profligacy at the expense of jobs.

During the past two years the state Department of Economic Expansion has spent several hundred thousand dollars in an intensive advertising campaign to promote Michigan as a preferable site for industrial location. The ads have been cleverly designed to attract maximum attention. The copy has been creatively provocative. The layouts have been cute. The typography has been eye-catching. The claims have been appealing, although extravagant. The publications selected to carry the ads have been prestigious and expensive. They have been first class ads, as such. One vital ingredient, however, has been missing—integrity. The gaudy claims of the seductive fiction in the ads was not matched by sound economic facts in the bookkeeping ledger. They attracted attention all too readily. They did not get results consistent with the expenditure because they were so distorted, so unrealistic and so full of deceit that they lacked credibility. It is my understanding that the approach has been changed now. That is long overdue.

It is unfortunate that a state agency would participate in such deceptive practices with the full support of the legislature and the executive office. A private company that engaged in the same trickery would be ordered to cease and desist and probably subjected to heavy penalties.

Michigan has many desirable features to appeal to certain type industries. They can be emphasized with candor and honesty. No duplicity is necessary. Nobody is going to be fooled anyway. Business executives responsible for making decisions on location of a manufacturing plant at an average cost of $45,000 per employee are not going to be seduced by glowing claims in promotion copy in an ad or brochure or in a publicity blurb. It is an insult to their experience and intelligence to make any claim that will not withstand the painstaking analysis of the accounting and operations specialists who will examine all the facts with the most exacting research possible.

There is a great deal of myth about this whole business of industrial development. Some people should know better and probably do, such as state bureaucrats who waste taxpayers' money to make it look like something is happening when in reality nothing is happening at all. Other people just do not understand. The general impression is that industrial sites can be peddled like deodorants or brassieres or non-rust muffler, perish the thought. Industrial location involves many different but related factors. Proximity to markets and raw materials, availability of a suitable labor force, transportation facilities, police protection, taxes, schools, wage rates, attitudes of local and state officials about business and a dozen other similar factors must be considered.

When they are all measured the prevailing and decisive factor is the total cost of operations that will permit the company to make a profit. These factors vary widely with different types of operations and at different locations. The whole process is highly individualized and selective. It does not lend itself to mass selling or impersonal approaches. Each industry is a tailor made case. That is why four color brochures, no matter how attractive to the school kids who collect them, and mass media advertising, no matter how adroitly prepared, are basically a waste of money in industrial development.

On the Brighter Side

'Will the real Christian stand up?'

By JIM BRADLEY

Pastor, Fair Haven Baptist Church

"TELL ME NOT in mournful numbers, Life is but an empty dream..." begins the well-known poem by Longfellow.

So many people today do not seem to know what life is all about—where they came from, why they are here, and what will happen in the future.

Life truly is not an empty dream, it is real, vital, vibrant! The Bible says the chief end of man is to glorify God. What miserable failures we are.

The world is not lacking wild-eyed, fanatical demonstrators who chant for their "pound of flesh" and trample the rights of others—the very same rights they scream for themselves.

There are numerous groups of every political opinion and philosophical stripe who do not hesitate to pawn off their beliefs on any unwary or unthinking person.

Force is the order of the day! Love, thy name is numbered among the missing! Hatred, violence, disobedience, strife and discord have slain that sturdy soldier that has kept America great.

Love, Love, that force which conquers hatred, chains emotions, ameliorates differences, and warms the coldest hearts, lies bleeding in the streets of our fair land.

Not only is the bloody form of love slumped near death, but love's fellow keepers of the peace also have been wounded. Understanding has been blinded, Patience, Kindness and Gentleness have been torn asunder and the end looks near.

Long suffering has been angered. Faith has been dealt a sneak attack and is in danger of being lost while Temperance struggles valiantly to hold Love's last vestige against those two cruel tyrants—Anarchy and Ruin!

If ever there was a time when love needed to be shown, kindness demonstrated, and patience practiced, it is today.

There has been on television a long-time favorite program called, "To Tell the Truth." A panel guessed which one of three persons was the real person described. The others were imposters. After the questions had been asked, the announcer asked in serious tones: "Will the real—please stand up?" After much shuffling about, looking at each other and moving about, the real person identified would stand up. The other two were just imposters, trying to deceive the panelists.

Life is like that today! How many people today pose as someone they are not, generate false virtues, and in general play the hypocrite? It's hard to tell the real person. Sorry to say, many Christian people fail to take their stand for Jesus Christ.

Instead of letting their light shine, living the life of love and integrity, they mimic the worldly in every phase of life and then piously enter the sanctuary on Sunday morning. Many Christians are ashamed of Christ today.

Silence is not always "golden," sometimes it's just plain yellow. Many people are afraid of being called fanatical if they mention Jesus Christ at their place of work. Men use His name in vain, but we Christians hesitate to use it for His praise!

Will the real Christian please stand up? You cannot divide Christianity into the sacred and secular. If you have faith, it will accompany you wherever you go.

The political arena has its fanatics, football stadiums will be jammed this fall with ecstatic rooters, the World Series will command the following of the keenest baseball fan, but don't you get excited about the One who died on Calvary's Cross to save your soul! Oh no!

Let the football fan rave, the political people plaster their candidate's name and picture everywhere, dictators stir their followers into a frenzy, but don't you dare mention the name of Jesus Christ! Oh, I don't mean with a "Holier than thou" attitude, but with an everyday "down to earth" sincerity about you.

Let the beauty of Christ shine forth, Christian. Don't hide it! "Will the real Christian please stand up?"

Drugs: Hospital eye view

By RUSS TUTTLE

Director, Community Relations, Peoples Community Hospital Authority

The scene is repeated with frightening regularity in hospitals throughout the country.

A rescue vehicle will pull into an emergency room entrance, and the attendants, almost casually because they have seen so much of it, will wheel another victim in for treatment.

They will be met as they come through the doors by the head nurse.

The dialogue will go something as follows:

"What have you got?"

"A kid. She's zonked out of her head. God knows what kind of junk she's taken, but she's sure OD'ed (overdosed)."

We actually witnessed that type of scene at one of the PCHA hospitals.

The victim we saw was a young—perhaps 16—blonde who was brought in from a local high school. A glance at the labels on her clothing indicated that she came from a family of some means.

The standard life-saving procedures were started: her stomach was pumped, blood was drawn for laboratory analysis, an intravenous feeding was started, and life support breathing systems were set up.

The young lady was stabilized and released in the custody of her parents—hopefully not to be seen again, although statistics indicated that indeed she'd be back. And the next time she might not be so fortunate.

Drug abusers come from all races, both sexes, and either end of the socio-economic-educational scale.

No longer can we delude ourselves and believe that the drug scene is the sole province of the inner city slums.

In an attempt to understand more clearly the extent and severity of the drug problem in the Western suburbs, we interviewed nurses, physicians, mental health counselors, an addict, and two veteran police officers who worked the narcotics detail for several years before transferring back to the 6 uniformed ranks.

This column, and those to come in the following weeks, will be addressed to the problem as seen through the eyes of those who have lived in and with it.

One police officer said, "Kids will buy just about anything from their 'friendly local drug pusher'. The hell of it is, they have no idea what they are buying, and hard as this is to believe, they will actually take the word of a dealer that they are getting 'good stuff'."

"They seem to overlook the fact that the pusher has a vested interest in selling his junk, and could care less what happens to his customers. 'Too often,' he continued, 'what they buy is one of the most dangerous and least understood drugs on the streets—LSD.'"

LSD is known chemically as lysergic acid diethylamide. It is a powerful hallucinogen noted principally for inducing bizarre mental aberrations in users. Prolonged use of LSD often results in the development of a psychotic mentality.

Another unpredictable effect of 'tripping on acid' or 'dropping acid' is the very real possibility of residual or flashback trips.

For reasons still unknown, weeks, or indeed months, after one has stopped using the drug, one can experience a spontaneous mind-bending trip. The dangers inherent in an unexpected trip, not only to the former user, but to innocent bystanders as well, ought to be painfully obvious.

The obvious question we asked, then, was why do so many young people take chances with 'an unknown'?

The second officer said, "I'm convinced that the use of drugs is only a symptom of something deep and complex."

"As police officers, we try to the extent possible to act as sociologists and psychologists. However, our principal duty is to enforce the laws and try to maintain a social environment in which it is safe for all citizens to live.

"And when I talk about symptoms and denial, I've got to say that more than once when I've made a drug bust, I've found that the parents gave me more trouble than the user."

"I guess society is content to play ostrich and thus ignore what is really going down in the streets," he concluded.

Crime statistics in this newspaper coverage area show that better than half the crime committed by juveniles is to get money for illegal drug purchases.

The stolen goods and property are sold to unethical 'fences' at 5 or 10 percent of the actual value.

"After all," said the first officer, "if a fence is ripping you off just as you did to get the hot goods, who are you going to complain to—the police?"

Why should we have to go to Wayne or Ypsilanti, when Belleville is much closer to our city.

Why not open Belleville (SIC) back up? We need it more than anything else. So please show your concern and help us get the hospital in operation again.

Please help our community. Diana Thompson Romulus

Nixon's war on bureaucracy justified?

WASHINGTON — Nixon and his men were paranoid, the press says. Their fixation that the bureaucracy they inherited was a nesting ground for political saboteurs was not only false, but foolish. It led to a reprehensible and repressive campaign to "rape the civil service."

Post-Watergate, this is the conventional wisdom, shared even by many of Mr. Ford's men.

Comes now evidence from the June '76 issue of the American Political Science Review that the conventional wisdom is false. Indeed, All The President's Men underestimated the strength and numbers of their enemies within the federal bureaucracy.

Using data collected from some 126 interviews with senior employees at 16 agencies, done in 1970, scholars Joel Aberbach of the University of Michigan and Bert Rockman of Pittsburgh discovered:

- Eighty-three percent of the supergrade career employees Mr. Nixon inherited were either Democrats or Independents who largely shared the political outlook of Democrats.

- Ninety-two percent of the senior bureaucrats at HEW, HUD and OEO opposed Nixon programs to reduce the social service agencies. More than 70 percent favored expanding their expansion, with no less than 53 percent favoring dramatic expansion.

- Of the political appointees who were hold-overs from the Johnson years, 75 percent favored increasing the size of the federal government, most of these supporting major increases.

- In those social service agencies, HEW, OEO, and HUD, not a single Democratic senior bureaucrat was found who did not favor expansion of the agency.

Ninety-two percent favored major expansion.

These were the men and women upon whom the Nixon White House was to rely to carry out the people's mandate to rein in the Great Society.

The authors' conclusion: "Our findings document a career bureaucracy with very little Republican representation but even more pointedly portray a social service bureaucracy dominated by administrators ideologically hostile to many of the directions pursued by the Nixon administration in the realm of social policy."

In summary, when Richard M. Nixon looked upon his executive bureaucracy as a barricade manned by political enemies to frustrate the expressed will of the American people, he was right on the mark. And when he sought to see that bureaucracy with political loyalists, his instincts were unerring.

When Mr. Ford deliberately weakened the White House staff, and shifted power back to the Cabinet (i.e., the bureaucracy), he was foolishly and mistakenly betraying the Republican mandate of 1972.

One puts down the Aberbach-Rockman analysis with the thought that conservative Republicans must re-think their traditional opposition to the concept of the Powerful President. Only a strong president will veto whole programs and agencies, impound funds voted by Congress and fight the issue in the courts, and exhibit the measure of political ruthlessness essential to bring a hostile bureaucracy to heel. If Mr. Nixon made a mistake dealing with the departmental roadblocks to conservative reform, it was in not posting enough recalcitrant bureaucrats to Butte, Montana, or Adak, Alaska.

For a new Republican president to expect his handful of appointees to impose upon this savvy leftist bureaucracy's program of reduction reorganization or reform is to send missionaries into the Central Highlands and Mekong Delta to convert the Viet Cong.

Jimmy Carter:

Hawk with a broken beak

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "I do not favor a blanket amnesty," Jimmy Carter told the American Legion convention in Seattle, "but for those who violated the selective service laws, I intend to grant a blanket pardon."

Booted by the Legionnaires, Carter's semantical judo on the English language by trying to convince the country there is a difference between "pardon" and "amnesty" is an illustration what his critics meant when they speak of "Carterizing" the language.

The former Georgia governor was, presumably, opposed to amnesty, or pardon, take your pick, as he was a supporter of the Vietnam war right to the end.

When Lt. William Calley was convicted in April, 1971, for the massacre of Vietnam citizens, Carter was a hawk and supported Calley. Although, not by name. Instead, Carter "proclaimed an American Fighting Man's Day and asked citizens to drive with auto headlights on," reported Newsweek magazine on April 12, 1971.

Nevertheless, in Las Vegas on May 20, 1976, Carter denied he supported Calley. In the strict sense of the language — which Carter does not follow — he was correct. But Georgians at the time never stopped to analyze the slight shade of difference.

Carter is now right in tune with his New Left supporters and veterans of the counterculture clamoring for amnesty, or pardon. But it was this group in the 1960s that played a powerful role in undermining American involvement in Vietnam. Members of his own party, including Lyndon Johnson, did the rest with a piecemeal military strategy.

Politicians can and do change their minds as they move from one public payroll to another. In Carter's case, however, what he and the Democratic platform has to say about South Korea calls into question not just his record of political opportunism, but his judgment in foreign affairs.

In the past 12 months members of his party, some of the same individuals who clamored about the corrupt dictatorship in Saigon while ignoring the dictators in Hanoi, have kept up a steady propaganda barrage against the "corrupt dictatorship" in South Korea. They, of course, ignore the regime in North Korea. Carter and the party platform have an interesting proposal for Korea.

"We affirm our commitment to the security of the Republic of Korea," states the plank on Asia, "both in itself and as a key to the security of Japan. However, on a prudent and carefully planned basis, we can redeploy, and gradually phase out, the U.S. ground forces, and can withdraw the nuclear weapons now stationed in Korea without endangering that support, as long as our tactical air and naval forces in the region remain strong."

Five weeks after the above was adopted, the North Koreans brutally murdered two American army officers in the Demilitarized Zone! President Ford responded firmly, at first, and then through the Kissinger State Department started backing off. Jimmy Carter cleverly supported the President's actions, few people realizing or remembering what his position in the party platform had been a few weeks before. A summit meeting in Colombo, Ceylon, of the so-called "nonaligned" or "third world" nations used the Korean incident to demand the U. S. get out of both Korea and Panama. On top of this, the Democratic platform calls for increased foreign aid to those same "third world" nations!

All of which illustrates that on foreign policy Carter is a hawk with his beak broken. Without knowing it, the Legionnaires booing the former Georgia governor was polite treatment for what he should have received.

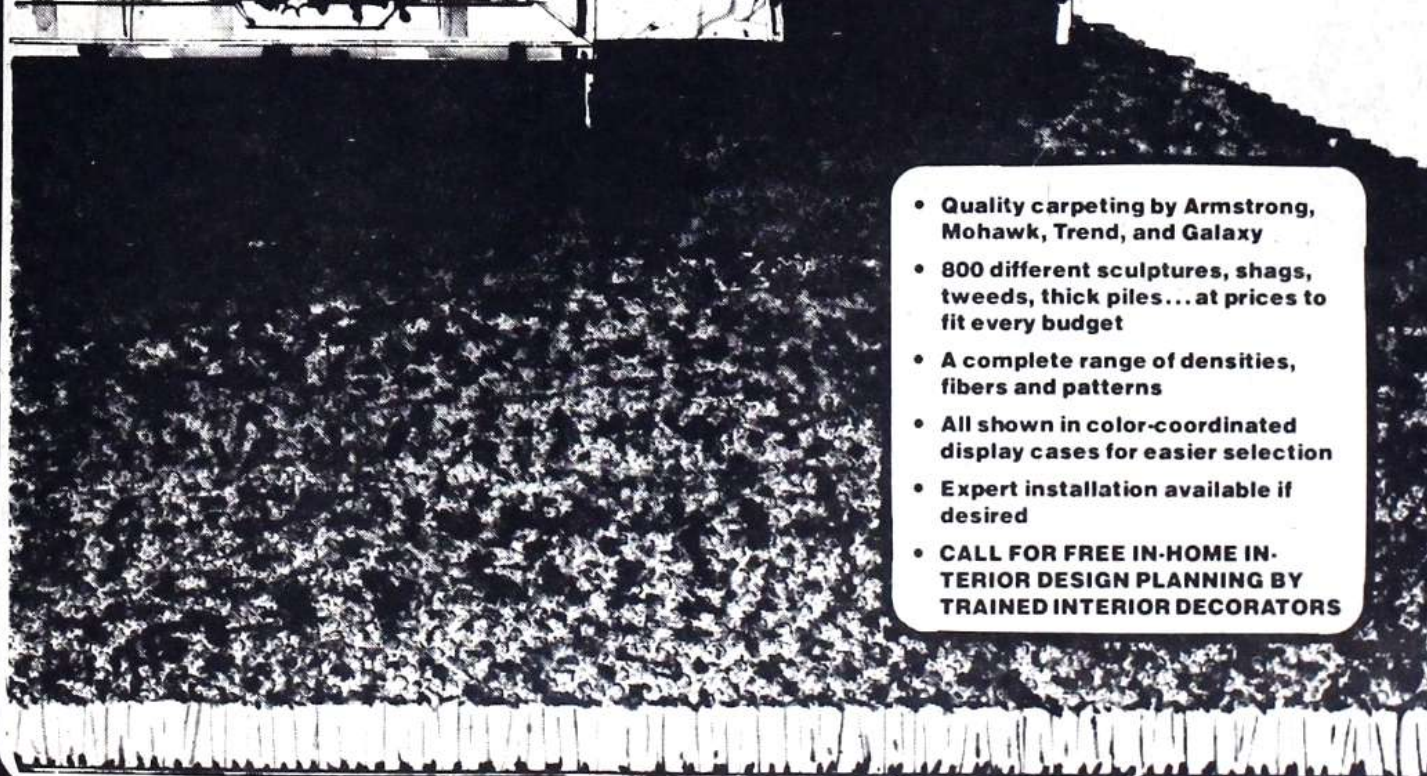

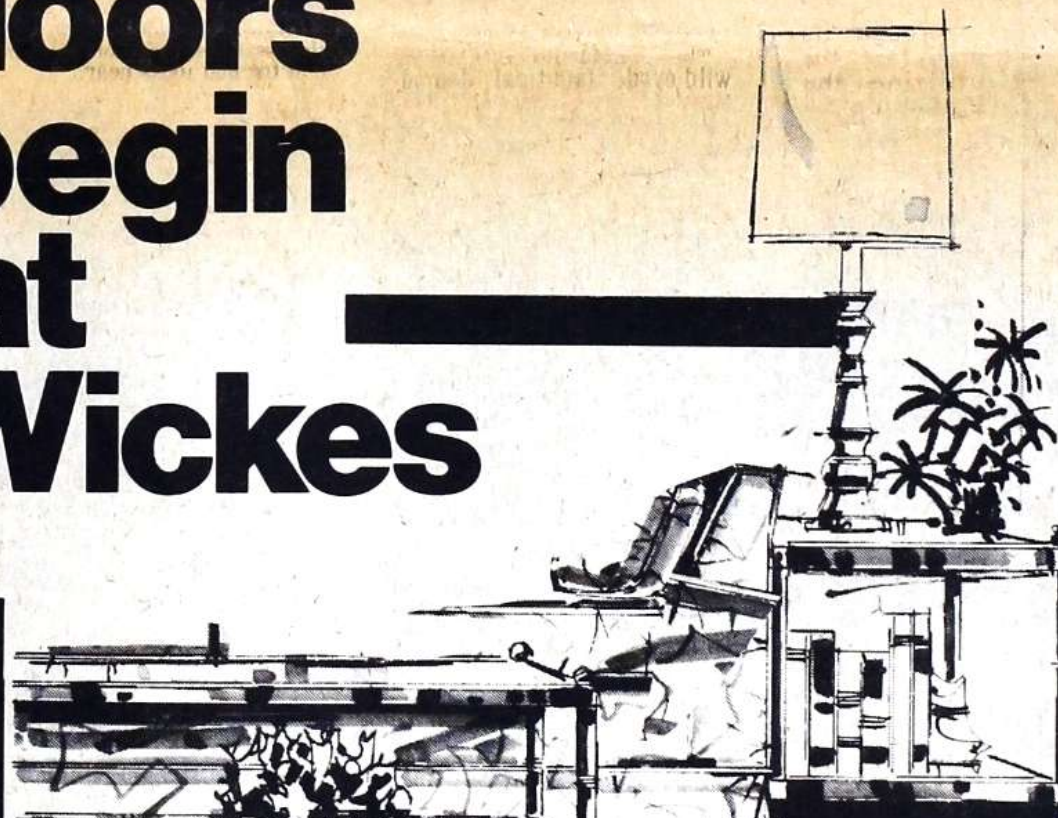

It is not that Carter is unprincipled, manipulative, and deceptive in his use of the language. Most politicians are by the nature of their profession, this and more.

Carter is in a special class because he has told us time and again he will never mislead us or tell a lie.

As the late H. L. Mencken wrote: "The man who boasts that he habitually tells the truth is a man who has no respect for it; it is not a thing to be thrown around loosely, like small change, it is something to be cherished and hoarded and disbursed only when absolutely necessary."

55 mph speed limit fumbling attempt to conserve gas, oil

LANSING — Three Ann Arbor residents gained momentary notoriety the other day by driving from Ann Arbor to Detroit on a freeway three abreast at 55 miles per hour.

They said they did it to prove a point — that nobody is driving 55 even though that is the speed limit. If anyone needed to have that proven, the three young men succeeded.

They backed up as many as 600 cars during their excursion.

The fact is that few drivers keep their cars under 55. Most cruise along somewhere between 60 and 65.

One ironic twist of the 55 mile per hour limit has been that it has made possible for those who desire it the opportunity to drive at much higher speeds unmolested by law enforcement officers. That has happened through the proliferation of citizen band radios and various radar detection devices that have sprung up in the 55 era.

It's a result that calmer voices were predicting back when Congress and the state legislatures were sold on 55 as a one-shot way to prove they were coping with the energy crisis. In truth, the limit, as the old cliché goes, is like treating cancer with a bandage.

A gas hog is a gas hog, after all, whether it's going 65 or 55.

Fortunately, large strides are being made in the area of energy conservation. The automobile companies, partially because of prodding by Congress and partially as the result of changing thinking about automobile design, have finally abandoned their longer, wider, heavier approach to automobile design.

General Motors, for the first time in its history, actually went out and borrowed money to finance its major redesign effort.

For example, it has lopped more than 1,000 pounds off the weight of its luxury automobiles such as the Oldsmobile 98 for 1977 while maintaining the interior room and trunk space of the older, heavier models.

Among the results has been a five-mile-per-gallon increase in mileage in the cars that have been the biggest gas guzzlers. That represents anywhere from 33 to 50 percent better mileage and that is a much more significant, much more permanent type of savings than has been achieved through the fumbling attempt to impose a 55-mile-per-hour speed limit.

Similar redesigns are going on throughout the entire industry right now, representing a continued, very significant commitment to better mileage to stretch out the dwindling supply of gas and oil.

A continuation of that may lead, in a few years, to a repeal of the 55-mile-per-hour limit, at least on freeways which were designed for much higher speeds.

The other argument for lower speeds is traffic safety, but people who study traffic accidents say the drop in deaths in the last couple of years has been due more to less driving and to increased use of safety belts.

For the moment, it appears motorists will have to be content driving on highways marked for 55 miles per hour and obeying those signs the way prohibition was obeyed. Except for the times, that is, when they get behind a line of cars going 55.

New industry

Express Freight Lines, Inc., a Milwaukee-based company, is planning to open its second Detroit-area freight terminal by October. Located on a 10-acre site in Romulus, the terminal will feature 17,500 square feet of dock space, a 13,400-square-foot office area and a 9,800-square-foot garage area. The firm also has a Detroit-area terminal located near the Detroit River south of Tiger Stadium. Express Freight Lines is a common carrier with terminals located in South Bend, Ind., and Racine, Wis., in addition to the Detroit and Milwaukee terminals.

Esch, Riegle speak to MML

Senatorial nominees Marvin L. Esch and Donald W. Riegle Jr. will share the platform at the closing luncheon of the 78th Annual Convention of the Michigan Municipal League at the Lansing Civic Center on Sept. 10.

Congressman Esch, the Republican nominee, and Congressman Riegle, the Democratic nominee, will address more than 900 municipal officials from across the state at the conclusion of their 3-day conference. The joint appearance of the Republican and Democratic senatorial candidates at the league convention has been traditional in election years.

Earlier in the week, on Sept. 8, the convention will open in the Civic Center with keynote addresses by Gov. William G. Milliken and William H. Whyte, author of "The Organization Man" and "The Last Landscape". Both speakers will discuss "Our Bicentennial Legacy", the theme of the convention.

Also on the opening day's program will be a discussion by Lt. Governor James J. Damman on future prospects and aspects of the property tax. Damman is chairman of the Governor's Advisory Task Force on Property Tax Revision and will review the task force's recent interim report. The following morning the task force will hold a public hearing to secure responses to its interim report.

Two concurrent sessions will follow Lt. Gov. Damman's remarks on Sept. 8. One, focused on state-mandated costs, will feature House Speaker Bobby D. Crim and Kenneth J. Emanuels, legislative representative for the League of California Cities. The second session will be a discussion of growth in small communities.

Thursday's agenda will feature three morning workshops as well as the public hearing. The annual business meeting of the Michigan Municipal League is scheduled for Sept. 9, followed by the organization's annual banquet in the Lansing Civic Center.

A breakfast for women in municipal government will be convened by Erma Henderson, councilwoman from Detroit in the Civic Center on Sept. 10. Mrs. Henderson is national coordinator for the women in municipal government group, which is associated with the National League of Cities.

The closing luncheon will be preceded by six sectional meetings.

The Michigan Municipal League, organized in 1899, has 475 member cities and villages throughout the state and is dedicated to the advancement of home rule and to the improvement of municipal government through cooperative effort.

Ellibee, Shetzley head Mt. Pleasant Daily

Two seasoned newspapermen who began their careers in central Michigan have assumed direction of the Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News for Panax Newspapers.

Keith Ellibee, who grew up in Ludington and served in various sales and executive assignments in Big Rapids and Manistee early in his career, was named general manager. He will direct all operations of the Daily Times-News.

Jon Shetzley, a native of Midland, was named director of sales by Ellibee.

Marsh is on leave pending reassignment by Panax.

Heim said the changes were made now "because of Panax' long range view and estimate of the Mt. Pleasant area".

"We believe the future of Mt. Pleasant is going to be filled with growth and accomplishments," Heim said. "And we intend that Panax and the Daily Times-News shall play an active leadership role in that growth and those accomplishments."

"We have asked two men with what we consider outstanding experience and proven track records to start preparing now for that role and work towards fulfilling it as time goes on."

"We are convinced that Keith Ellibee and Jon Shetzley will do just that."

To Ellibee 57, the Daily Times-News assignment is "coming home". A graduate of Ludington High School where he was a football and basketball star, the new general manager began his newspaper career as a reporter on the Manistee News Advocate in January, 1946. He went there after service aboard the destroyers O'Bannon and Ballard at Guadalcanal, Okinawa, Saipan, and Tinian during World War II. He earned a presidential unit citation following the Guadalcanal invasion.

'...shall play an active role..'

After changing to the advertising sales staff in Manistee late in 1946, Ellibee transferred to the Big Rapids Pioneer in 1947 as advertising manager. In the summer of 1950 he was recalled by the Navy and served aboard the destroyer Erben during the Korean War.

In December, 1952, he went to work for the Pontiac Press as a sales and promotion executive, then moved to the Lansing State Journal in a similar capacity in 1957. In 1959 he rejoined the Big Rapids Pioneer, this time as general manager.

In 1962 he was named assistant to the publisher of the Mt. Clemens Monitor Leader and served there through that newspaper's transition from a small daily, with three sister weekly publications, into the metropolitan daily operation that is the Macomb Daily today.

Ellibee became sales and promotion manager of the Macomb Daily in 1971, the position he relinquished to accept the Daily Times assignment this week.

Shetzley 30, also will celebrate a homecoming. A native of Midland and a graduate of Midland High School he holds a degree from Northwestern Institute and attended Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo. He began his newspaper work on the retail advertising staff of the Observer-Eccentric Newspaper Group in suburban Detroit and joined the Macomb Daily staff in sales and promotion in early 1974. Since November 1975, he has been on the Panax Southeastern Michigan regional advertising staff working directly under Heim.

UHT Memorial Funeral Home

Harold Rediske

If you're involved in making arrangements for a funeral service for someone who dies out of town, the assistance of an expert in these matters is often required, certainly desired.

You should contact us or another local funeral director who will then make arrangements with a highly qualified mortician wherever the death occurred. (We have been in business for over 100 years and have contacts all over the country through our membership in National Selected Morticians. We will surely know some one personally in whom you can put your trust wherever you are.)

We will take the necessary steps to prepare the body for immediate transportation back home. We're experienced and equipped to handle the complicated details of transportation, air or rail.

We will confer at long distance with you or with other family members locally to plan for the local funeral services. It is important for you to remember, though, to call us or another local funeral home FIRST. Especially under these circumstances, you need to avoid unnecessary duplication of effort and fees. Your local mortician is more likely to serve you and save you in the way you would wish.

There may be situations wherein you would wish the body to be prepared for visitation services where the death occurred and subsequently shipped back here for the funeral. Again it is important that the primary arrangements be made locally to insure the kind of services you wish without the risk of duplicated costs. If you wish further details on out-of-town arrangements, please contact us.

Candlelight ceremony unites Don Turney, Susan Holliday

The newly wed Donald Lee Turney have taken up residence at 380 Liberty St., Apt. 5, Belleville, since returning from their 8-day honeymoon.

Susan Holliday became Mrs. Turney during a candlelight ceremony July 31 at the First United Methodist Church of Birmingham. The Rev. Thomas Beaven presided at the 7 p.m. double ring rite before some 150 assembled relatives and friends.

Parents of the young couple are Mrs. Robert B. Holliday of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Turney of Belleville.

Escorted to the sanctuary by her brother, Robert G. Holliday, the bride was gown in a white jersey creation patterned in the empire mode with long sleeves, a high lace neckline and chapel train.

Her satin-banded silk illusion veil drifted to elbow length from a little lace cap and she carried a colonial bouquet of white baby sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Thomas James Vranich of Royal Oak was her sister's honor attendant. The quartet of bridesmaids included Carol Daughtery, Vicki Hunt, Terri Bedard and Charlie Gorman, all friends from Birmingham.

Identically fashioned, their long eggshell gowns were reminiscent of the colonial era with long full sleeves and little fitted bodices which laced up the front. Their matching picture hats were banded in delicate braiding and adding contrast to their ensembles were colorful colonial bouquets of blue bachelor buttons and purple, yellow, red and orange Gerber daisies.

Kurt Sanford of Grosse Pointe carried out the duties of best man. Others on the esquire side were the bridegroom's brother, Dean Turney who came from Palm Beach, Fla. for the occasion; Steve Reitz of Wayne, a college friend; Tom Vranich of Royal Oak, the bride's brother-in-law, and Terry Kirvin of Flint, the bridegroom's college roommate.

Following the ceremony, guests traveled to the Park Haus in Northville for the dinner-dance reception. Mrs. Holliday received the 150 guests in a beige, brown and melon chiffon gown while Mrs.

Turney, the bridegroom's mother, chose to wear a melon polyester and chiffon gown. Both were honored with cymbidium orchid corsages.

The newlyweds' honeymoon trip included Cedar Point, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, Boston and Niagara Falls.

The new Mrs. Turney attended Western Michigan University (WMU) for three years and will complete requirements for a communications degree in radio and television broadcasting at Eastern Michigan University.

Her husband has completed four years of study toward a biology degree at WMU and plans to continue school in pursuit of a degree in chiropractic medicine. He currently is employed as a TV technician for Sewer Specialists of Romulus.

The bridegroom's parents played host at the rehearsal dinner at their Elwell Road home the evening before the wedding with 26 guests attending.

Tight squeeze? Try salads!

If you're discovering that you're not fitting into your summer clothes as well as you'd like, try tasty meat salads for substantial lunches that make but modest calorie contributions.

Meat has staying power to satisfy hunger longer. Julienne strips of cooked beef, ham, veal and lamb are excellent sources of protein to combine with summer fresh vegetables and fruits. The nutritive contributions of meat help keep vitality and efficiency up while weight is going down.

A word of warning—watch that salad dressing! Try substituting a dash of lemon juice or seasoned buttermilk.

Scrimger-Folts marry

Denton church scene of ceremony

Arrangements of pink, blue and white flowers along with candles graced the altar of Faith United Methodist Church in Denton as Linda Folts and Mark D. Scrimger exchanged wedding bands and vows.

The Aug. 14 ceremony was read by The Rev. Norman R. Beckwith before some 100 guests. Music for the 7 p.m. rite was played by the bridegroom's sister, Ellen Scrimger.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Folts of Denton Road, Belleville, the bride was escorted up the aisle by her father. For her wedding day she chose to wear an ivory nylon gown fashioned with an oval illusion neckline enhanced with a lace collar and appliques. The sleeves on her empire-waisted dress ended over the wrist in sheer ruffles edged with lace.

A lace pearl-studded crescent, ruffled at the front, held her chapel length illusion veil while a natural bouquet of off-white mini-carnations, pink and blue cornflowers, baby's breath and stephanotis completed her bridal ensemble.

Maid of honor was Michelle Good of Belleville and bridesmaid was Susan Seymour of Temperance, a cousin of the bride. Their dresses, in pale blue and pink, respectively, were identical in style and made of a sheer printed fabric trimmed with ivory lace. The sundress bodices were topped with brief, short-sleeved jackets.

Their headpieces were large, flat satin bows with shoulder-length veils in colors to match their gowns and their bouquets were comprised of cornflowers, white button mums and baby's breath with yellow carnations added to Miss Good's arrangement and pink carnations to Miss Seymour's.

Six-year old Kelley Forbes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orval C. Forbes of Ypsilanti, was flowergirl in a sleeveless frock accented with ovals of lace at the neckline and made of the same material as the honor maid's. Her tiny nosegay included pink, blue and white corn-toured the Stroh's Brewery, Sunken Gardens in Windsor, Ont. and Greenfield Village. They also enjoyed dining and dancing at the Brentwood House in Melvindale.

Other relatives enjoying the get-together were Mrs. Mary Skobel of Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koshen and son, Fred, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Skobel and daughters of W. Memphis, Ark. and Mrs. David Tranberg of Kansas City, Mo.

At the old ballgame

Two Belleville service clubs, Kiwanis and Rotary, were at Tiger Stadium last Tuesday night to (unfortunately) see their home team take quite a trouncing in the ninth inning. But the weather was ideal and the fun of getting together more than made up for the loss.

In fact, Billy and Becky Chizmar (who attended the game with their mom and dad, Peg and Bill Chizmar, and their grandmother, Mrs. Dorothy Dresselhouse of Northville) had a few extra thrills thrown in during the evening.

With the Kiwanis club's box seats being near the Chicago White Sox bullpen, they got to meet several of the players and ended up sharing their bags of peanuts with a few pitchers. Just before they left the ballpark, pitcher Jesse Jefferson turned around and handed them each a "major league" ball which really put the icing on the evening.

Along with Holly and Cindy Fitch and Jennifer Touse they had also collected a few autographs on their programs.

Thirty-eight Kiwanians, wives and children were on their chartered bus while some 40 representatives of Rotary (who were seated on the opposite side of the park) made up their bus group.

Both mothers wore carnation corsages to match their gowns.

Following their reception in the church parlors, the newlyweds left for a short wedding trip to northern Michigan. They are currently making their home in Parma near Jackson where the bridegroom has been assigned as a department manager at Meijer Thrifty Acres.

The new Mrs. Scrimger graduated from Belleville High School and prior to her marriage was an employee of Meijer's at Canton. Her husband is an alumnus of St. Mary's High School in Wayne.

Boys Club reunion scheduled for alumni

In addition to 1976 marking the Bicentennial year, it also marks the 50th anniversary of the Boys Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit.

In celebration of this year, a "Boys Club Alumni Reunion and Dance" has been planned for Saturday, Oct. 23 at 8 p.m. at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4301 Larkins, Detroit.

During the five decades of the organization's existence, it is estimated that 100,000 boys have shared the professional guidance that has assisted their growth to manhood.

A major challenge to making this a "successful" event is finding ways to locate Boys Club Alumni who, through the years, have scattered in all directions.

In addition to renewing old friendships, a vacation trip for two to Las Vegas via United Airlines will be given away.

All interested alumni are asked to call 894-8500 or write to the Boys Club Alumni Reunion and Dance, 3826 Livernois Ave., Detroit, 48210.

Romulus woman appointed to Scout supervisory post

Mrs. Deborah J. Schmidt of 30231 Dorset, Romulus, has been appointed to a volunteer supervisory position with the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council (HVGSC), it was recently announced by Mrs. Fran Bauer, council president.

Mrs. Schmidt has been named Troop Services Director for four troops headquartered at Merriman School.

As Troop Services Director, Mrs. Schmidt is responsible for recruiting troop leaders for 100 Girl Scouts, ranging in age from 6 to 17; for training leaders; providing program ideas; contacting resource people and researching community services and opportunities available to Girl Scout troops. She also assists in coordinating the activities of volunteer troop committee members and acts as liaison between the local troops and the Huron Valley Council.

Troop leaders working with Mrs. Schmidt will be Mrs. Marynie C. Boston of 30547 Dru Street, Mrs. Rosalie Berlin of 15518 Oakbrook, Mrs. Sharon Crain of 15901 Oakbrook and Mrs. Monika David of 15709 Colbert Street.

Mrs. Schmidt has served as a volunteer in Taylor with St. Paul United Church of Christ.

"The job of Troop Services Director is a professional one in every way. She is responsible for the experience of over 100 Girl Scouts in the Merriman cluster. Mrs. Schmidt's special skills and enthusiasm will be a valuable contribution to our council", Mrs. Bauer said.

The HVGSC is presently seeking volunteers to fill five other such positions in Romulus. Troop Service Director candidates are needed for clusters servicing these schools: Beverly Elementary, Mt. Pleasant, St. Aloysius, Romulus Grade School, and Gordonier and Hayti. Individuals interested in learning more about these positions may call Ms. Luci Chambers of the Council at 483-2370 or write to Box 539, Ypsilanti, Mich. 48197.

Day camp activities

Being outdoors in the summer is great but combining the warm weather and sunshine with a troop of young Girl Scouts can result in a real fun fest. Youngsters from throughout the area gathered recently in Van Buren Township for a Girl Scout Day Camp and found that there

Champagne-Glover repeat vows in West Virginia church

Walton Union Church in Walton, W. Va. was reserved Aug. 21 for the double ring rite which united Robin Kristine Glover and Randy Lee Champagne in holy matrimony.

The Rev. Orland Reynolds conducted the 2 p.m. ceremony which united the daughter and son of two Romulus couples, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Glover and Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Champagne.

The bride and groom also performed a unity ceremony of dedication to each other during the open-church ceremony. Mrs. Jack Dunlap of Charleston was pianist.

Given in marriage by her father, Robin appeared in a colonial style gown of white Italian silk and opalescent sequined Alencon lace. The toe-touching creation, which featured a detachable chapel train, was designed with cathedral sleeves and a sweetheart neckline.

A tiara of aurora borealis crystals and seed pearls secured her silk illusion veil which was made in fingertip length. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of cultured pearls belonging to her paternal grandmother.

She carried a white prayer book covered with white roses and satin streamers along with two long-stemmed white roses which she presented to the two mothers.

Mrs. Charles Whited of Charleston, W. Va., was matron of honor at her niece's wedding. Junior bridesmaids were Rhonda Whited, a cousin of the bride, and Sherry Champagne, a niece of the bridegroom.

All three attendants were dressed in floor-length frocks of pale blue crepe and all carried matching bouquets of blue-tipped carnations.

Best man was Leo Palnau of Ypsilanti. The bride's cousin, Jeffrey Whited, and the bridegroom's nephew, David Champagne, served as ushers. Another of the bride's cousins, Gregory Whited, filled the role of head usher.

Mrs. Glover and Mrs. Champagne chose formal gowns in pink and green, respectively, and were presented corsages of blue-tipped carnations for the happy occasion.

A brief reception was held in the church social room with Mrs. Irene Summers and Nancy Summers of Charleston, W. Va. and Tina Glover of Clendenin, W. Va., as hostesses. Mrs. Naomi Robinson of Walton, W. Va. registered the guests. After throwing the bridal bouquet and bride's garter, the bride and groom and their party left for a champagne dinner at Schrader's in Charleston, W. Va.

Those attending from Michigan included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Champagne and son Michael, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Shaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Burkett, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Erik Kind, Mr. and Mrs. John Miles, Mr.

and Mrs. Ed Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vernatt with Michelle, Gwinn and Sean, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Derringer.

Others from out of state were Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey of Richmond, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Bob Glover with Stephanie and Jason of Kansas City, Mo., Becky Burgess of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Steffins of Atlanta, Ga.

After honeymooning in the South, the newlyweds will reside in Ypsilanti where the bridegroom is employed by Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors.

All classes in the adult education program meet from 6:30 to 10 p.m. one night a week. Classes are held Monday through Thursday evenings.

Openings are available in Riverview, River Rouge, Lincoln, Huron, Woodhaven, Airport, Ecorse and Dearborn Heights No. 7 districts.

Summertime means recreation fun time

Something for everyone

What variety!

Youngsters taking part in this summer's activities through the Romulus Recreation Department found that the variety seemed endless with the selection ranging from ballet to karate to gymnastics. Above, Cheryl Bird, 5, (front), and Jennifer Hageman, 7, practice their ballet style, while Missy McDaniel (above, right) had a surprised look when she hit the floor mat in the gymnastic session. The summer program was held at Romulus Senior High School. —ANP photos.

Vintage cars to invade Greenfield Village

The "wheezing coughs" of America's earliest horseless carriages will be music to the ears of antique car lovers attending the 26th annual Greenfield Village Old Car Festival Sept. 11-12.

The Old Car Festival is one of the few meets in the nation that still features cars from the late 1890s to 1925 beginning with the early 1-cylinder pioneers and continuing through each stage of refinement in gas, electric and steam models. The festival also is famous for its field events that include driving contests and judging of cars dating 1917 to 1925 on Sept. 11 late 1890s to 1916 on Sept. 12.

Each day's program begins at 12:30 p.m. with a parade of antique cars, highwheel bicycles and a Dixieland band through the streets of the village. Following opening ceremonies on the Village Activities Field each day, festival participants will drive their cars at the Activities Field in such events as cranking, and balloon and potato stabbing contests. Throughout the weekend cars will be exhibited on the Village Green and antique bicycles will be shown near the Mack Avenue Plant.

At 2:15 p.m. each afternoon members of the Wheelmen, a national organization of antique bicycle collectors whose members will travel from several states for this event, will demonstrate the riding of 1890s highwheel bicycles. During the Sept. 11 demonstration the 23 riders who completed a 750-mile Bicentennial highwheel bicycle tour that left Henry Ford Museum July 4 and arrived in Philadelphia, Penn., July 16 will receive recognition medals.

Another highlight on the Activities Field will be a race against the clock by the Canadian Model T Assembly Team which will convert a pile of parts into an operating Model T Ford in minutes.

Each day of the festival special guests will be honored by Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum. On Sept. 11 Richard A. Teague, vice-president of automotive styling for American Motors Corp., and recipient of the 1976 Automotive Industries Magazine Career Achievement Award, will be honored. Among his many styling triumphs is the highly regarded Pacer. On Sept. 12 on observance of the 50th anniversary of the Pontiac automobile, Alex C. Mair, general manager Pontiac Motor Division and vice-president, General Motors Corp., will accept the recognition of the village and museum. Throughout the weekend 1926

Pontiac No. 1, a 1909 Oakland, forerunner of the Pontiac, a 1932 Pontiac V-8 and a 1975 Pacer will be on exhibit in the center of the activities field. Also at the Activities Field there will be displays of porcelain license plates, auto emblems, motor meters, hub caps spark plugs and Pontiac memorabilia and a demonstration of the craft of making wooden automobile wheels.

There is no additional charge for the Old Car Festival beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission.

For 18th district meet

Huron clerk sets MTA date

Huron Township Clerk Mary Lou Carey has joined with two other officials from townships in Washtenaw and Monroe counties in announcing a meeting of the 18th District of the Michigan Townships Association (MTA).

The meeting, which will include officials from townships in Wayne, Livingston, Washtenaw, and Monroe counties, will be held in the East and West ballrooms of Weber's Inn of Ann Arbor on Sept. 9. It will run from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The all-day educational meeting will include presentations on newly proposed legislation from high ranking state officials and staff members of the MTA.

The opening session and afternoon workshops will examine Gov. William Milliken's tax base sharing proposal, the task force report on property tax revision, transportation funding, trends in municipal pension systems, the federal coastal zone management program, water quality planning and the status of important legislation.

Invited to attend the 1-day meeting are Lt. Gov. James Damman, State Budget Director

Gerald Miller, Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis, Speaker of the House Bobby Crim and House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne.

According to an MTA spokesman, top-notch representatives of various state departments and the local regional council also will be participating. The spokesman went on to say that since it will be impossible to have the officials at all 19 MTA meetings this fall, they have pledged to send their top aides, if they are unable to attend.

The afternoon agenda for the district meeting will include education in the fields of elections and financing and accounting. For certified township supervisors and assessors, a 3-hour session will be held by the State Tax Commission, which will permit all supervisors and assessors to qualify for renewal of their assessor's certificates.

MS chapter hosts classes on home care of patients

The Metro-Detroit Branch Chapter, National Multiple Sclerosis (MS) Society, and the American Red Cross will conduct free home care classes for family members of MS patients beginning next month.

The classes will last two hours and will run for eight consecutive weeks. Subjects include basic health procedures, nursing fundamentals, nutrition, transfer techniques, equipment, physical therapy and aids to daily living. The psychological consequences of MS also will be discussed.

Roberta Cottman, R.P.T., chairman of the Metro-Detroit Chapter, said depending on response, the fall series of home care classes will include daytime classes in Detroit. Evening classes are scheduled for Wyandotte, Dearborn and Roseville.

"Although we have mailed hundreds of program announcements, many metro MS families are not on the society's mailing list and, therefore, will not know of the home care program", Cottman said. "We urge interested MS families to contact us for more information about this health education program."

For registration information, call the Multiple Sclerosis Society office at 342-1770.

County seeks homes for retarded, disabled

The Wayne Center for the Retarded and Developmentally Disabled is continually seeking foster homes throughout the county for such afflicted children and adults.

The center is interested in foster parents who will be able to provide the children or adults with a wholesome family-centered environment and who have skills or the potential to teach basic self-care, socialization and community living skills to the retarded and developmentally disabled.

All of the children and adults in foster care situations are provided with clothing, medical coverage and a personal allowance.

The foster parents receive a basic care allowance for each child or adult to cover the expenses of shelter, food and basic necessities, plus additional money for specific training programs which are designed for each individual in placements.

As part of the development of foster homes, the agency offers orientation sessions, training and inservice workshops. These programs are designed to develop the techniques which are needed to teach the skill of everyday living.

Additional information on the agency's foster home program can be obtained by writing the Wayne Center for the Retarded and Developmentally Disabled, 76 W. Adams, Suite 400, Detroit 48226 or by calling 963-2888.

Moose, fire departments push sticker plan

Program to cut fire-related deaths

The fire departments in Belleville, Romulus and Van Buren townships will be teaming up with Lodge 934 of the Loyal Order of the Moose in promoting a window sticker fire safety project.

According to lodge governor Clyde

Bower and Gary Thomas, chairman of the lodge's civic affairs committee, the campaign will be staged to eliminate the needless loss of lives in fires.

The lodge will be providing luminescent window stickers to the public without cost. The red reflective stickers should be affixed to the windows of invalid, convalescing, infirm and elderly persons as well as young children to readily identify the locations their rooms to fire fighters during blazes.

With the fire department fully aware of the use of such stickers, spotlights will search windows to locate the reflective markers permitting fire fighters to investigate the rooms and see if evacuation is necessary, the two lodge members said.

The use of the 4½-inch square stickers will cut down the search time by fire fighters and rescue squads, expediting rescue and practically eliminating fatalities due to smoke inhalation, they added.

The fire safety program has gained the support of Fire Commissioner Darwin Keith and Fire Chiefs Eugene Miller and Elmer

Memering of Van Buren Township, Fire Chief Tony Talaga of Belleville, Fire Chief Larry Hartwick of Sumpter Township and Fire Chief John Wilhide of Romulus.

The stickers can be obtained and any of the four participating communities' fire stations or from the Belleville Moose Lodge.

Big thanks

Geneva Clark (right) offers Shir Hall a special "thanks" for her work along with her husband and their sons, Guy and Gary, for organizing the construction of The Giant Beaver to serve as mascot for the Romulus Eager Beavers during the Romulus July 4 Bicentennial Parade. The occasion was the annual Eager Beaver outing in Romulus, which allowed the youngsters, affiliated with the Eager Beaver movement, to view their 7-foot mascot first hand. — ANP photo.

Johnny Guarnieri to appear Downriver

The Presidential Inn in Southgate will be filled with the jazz sounds of the Johnny Guarnieri Trio during their performance on Sunday from 7 to 11 p.m.

The trio consists of Johnny Guarnieri at the piano, J.C. Heard, on the drums and Will Austin playing the bass.

Guarnieri first began his career in the dance band circuit in 1937 with the George Hall Orchestra.

He is best known for his work with Benny Goodman and Artie Shaw. During his time with Shaw, he made the Gramercy Five records and became the first jazz musician to solo on the piano. The tune "Summit Ridge Drive" became a popular classic.

Throughout his career, he has performed with many jazz leaders, including Jimmy Dorsey, around the world.

His last stop in the Detroit area was in 1972 at the Leland House and was followed by a record session for Jim Taylor Presents.

Heard has been considered one of the "well-known and expertise drummers" by audiences and peers. He has worked with such musicians as Cab Calloway, Coleman Hawkins and Roy Eldridge.

WHEREAS: All said entities comprising the 34th Judicial Court District have also reached an agreement pursuant to Section 8104 (3) of Act No. 154 of the P.A. of 1968, as amended, to share according to use, any and all of the expenses of maintaining and operating the 34th Judicial Court District to be located in said district; and

WHEREAS: The entities comprising the 34th Judicial Court District have agreed to establish a court operation and maintenance fund.

NOW THEREFORE THE 34TH DISTRICT COURT COUNCIL HEREBY RESOLVES that the following distribution of fines and costs assessed in the 34th Judicial Court District and the following method of sharing the expenses of maintaining and operating the 34th Judicial Court District are hereby approved of and adopted;

(1) The City of Romulus proposes to build a building with an aggregate amount of $2,402.91 per month to be recognized as a fixed figure in the operational budget for the life of indenture of said building.

(2) The City of Belleville, City of Romulus and the Townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren comprising the 34th Judicial Court District shall be entitled to one hundred percent (100 percent) of all fines and costs assessed therein for any violation of all and any of that community's ordinance, occurring within the corporate boundaries of that community. It is further understood that no community shall receive the Five Dollars ($5.00) assessed for violations as cost in each case, which is required by law to be forwarded to the Michigan State Treasurer. It is also understood by all communities comprising the 34th Judicial Court District that all such fines and cost money levied of said court shall be retained by the Court for the purpose of operating and maintaining said Court and that at the end of every 90 day period, the Court shall furnish to the communities comprising the district, a statement of costs of the operation and maintenance of the 34th Judicial Court District.

(5) The formula for determining the amount of contribution or reimbursement of each of the various communities except the Wayne County Road Commission, comprising the 34th Judicial Court District shall be as follows:

Each community comprising the 34th Judicial Court District shall contribute that percentage of the total operation and maintenance costs of the court as determined by the percentage of that community's cases started in the court as bears to the total of all cases started in the court during a designated 90 day operational period. Any monies necessary for the operation and maintenance of the court or any monies held by the court shall be either paid in or returned within 30 days of the 90 day audit without penalty, thereafter a penalty of one percent (1 percent) per month, each and every month will be assessed until paid.

(6) Any costs assessed for violations that were issued by a law enforcement agency not employed by the community shall be placed in the Court's operating and maintenance fund.

(7) The Wayne County Road Commission's formula for determining the amount of contribution relative to the operation and maintenance of the 34th Judicial Court District shall be as follows:

It is further understood that they will not receive the Five Dollars ($5.00) assess for violations as costs in each case, which is required by law to be forwarded to the Michigan State Treasurer. NOW THEREFORE THE District Court Council HEREBY RESOLVES that the following method of sharing the cost up to Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) for equipping of said 34th Judicial Court District:

Huron	46,462,100	9.124 percent
Sumpter	38,196,680	7.501 percent
Van Buren	134,715,900	26.454 percent
Wayne County Roads	Unknown factor	8.500 percent
	465,956,630	100.000 percent

(1) The establishment of this method was based on the 1975 state equalized value as reported by the Wayne County Equalization report. The Wayne County Detroit Metropolitan Airport share would equal a value of eight and one half percent (8 ½ percent). All equipping cost above said $25,000 shall be charged to the operation and maintenance fund and be charged to the communities as outlined in paragraph (5) page 3.

NOW THEREFORE THE District Court Council HEREBY RESOLVES that the entities of the 34th Judicial Court District agree to establish an operation and maintenance fund account.

(1) The 34th Judicial Court District shall be designated as the custodian of all fines and costs to be escrowed. Said Court shall give an accounting each and every ninety (90) days showing receipts, payments and interest accrued thereon. Said custodian shall be authorized to refund or request monies from participating communities upon instruction from the presiding Judge of the 34th Judicial Court District.

(2) In the event that the State of Michigan or any Authority should take over the 34th Judicial Court District system, this agreement will terminate immediately.

(3) Should a federal grant be obtained, that court facility becomes the property of the 34th District Council. Labor Day traffic will set record for miles traveled

Given good weather, Labor Day traffic is expected to set a record this year with an estimated 600 million miles to be driven in four days on the highways, according to a spokesman for the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

The predicted total for the 4-day weekend is 2.6 percent above the 1975 holiday period in which 643 million miles were logged.

To accommodate the anticipated traffic, all road and bridge construction on state highways will be suspended between 3 p.m. Friday and the normal starting time for work Tuesday. Only emergency work will be permitted over the weekend.

Western Wayne County motorists will encounter seven major detours if travelling in the state and 10 areas of major construction which could restrict the traffic flow over the weekend.

The detours include:

- Joy Road between Curtis and Godfredson Road, closed due to construction on the M-14 freeway northeast of Ann Arbor;
- M-29 due to construction of a new bridge over the Pine River in St. Clair;
- US-223, closed at Wolf Creek two miles west of Adrian for bridge construction;
- US-24A (the Summit Street) exit of northbound I-75 in southern Monroe County, closed due to interchange work;
- M-106 at the Portage River north of Jackson, closed due to bridge construction;
- Northbound US-23 to eastbound I-94 south of Ann Arbor, which is detoured over US-12; and
- US-10 BR (South Saginaw Street) at Wilson Street in Pontiac.

Areas of construction in the state which have no detours include:

- The Blue Water Bridge at Port

Huron, with one lane shut down during daylight hours and two lanes closed during the night, but open on the weekend for deck resurfacing;

- I-94 between Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti due to construction;
- I-94 at the north Jackson city limits, reduced to one lane in both directions;
- I-75 from the Ohio State line north to Wayne County, undergoing widening;
- US-131 between LeRoy and the Wexford County line, undergoing widening;
- US-23 between Milan and Dundee for bridge resurfacing, reduced to one lane in both directions;
- US-31 between US-12 and Niles, reduced to two lanes;
- The bridge carrying US-12 over I-94 southwest of Ypsilanti, reduced to two lanes;
- US-23 between I-94 near Ann Arbor and I-96 near Brighton, reduced to one lane in each direction on several bridges; and
- US-24 (Telegraph Road) at US-10 (Lodge Freeway) in Southfield for bridge widening.

Birth announcements have shape of cigar

What do new fathers give away instead of the traditional cigar, especially when smoking isn't everybody's way?

The answer is the cigar-shaped birth announcements from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan.

The tobacco-colored cards with a band that displays the traditional red double-bar cross of the Christmas Seal people opens to provide space for writing in the new baby's name, birthdate and weight.

Proud parents, who don't smoke and who might wish others smoked less, can proudly announce that: "In our baby's name, we have made a contribution to the American Lung Association's Anti-Smoking Program".

The cards can be mailed or passed out to relatives and friends just like traditional cigars, but without the enticements of smoking. The traditional blue for boys and pink for girls color theme is used on the individual packets.

A Lung Association spokesman said the cards are available for a contribution of $1 or more in packets of five. Cards can be obtained at the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan's offices at 28 W. Adams in the Michigan Mutual Building (19th floor), Detroit 48226, in person or by mail. The association hopes to distribute them in hospital gift shops and card shops.

Beavers' float wins accolade

An unusual float with the theme of "Give Us a Chance, We Can Learn", has brought the Eager Beavers a trophy in the Romulus Fourth of July Parade.

The giant Beaver, which stood 7 feet tall, was made by Mr. and Mrs. Shirl Hall and their two sons, Guy and Gary. With the help of parents and volunteers of the organization for mentally retarded in the community, the Halls completed the float, which netted a trophy for the most unusual parade float.

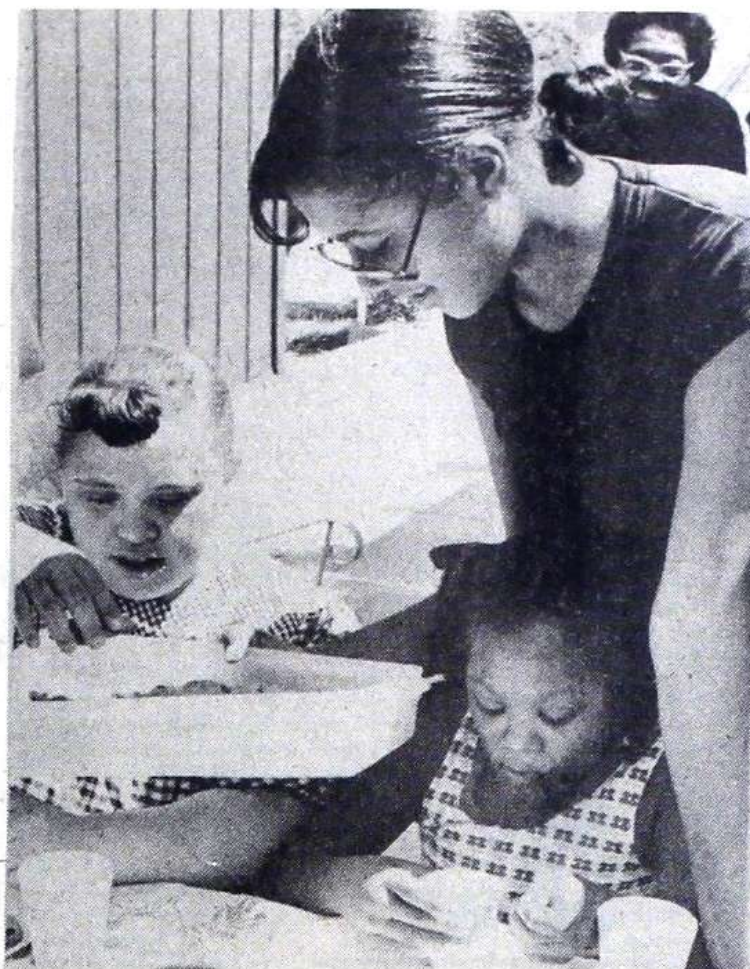

Those Eager Beaver members who were unable to see their 7-foot mascot, did get to enjoy a lunch with the creation and its creators.

Geneva Clark on behalf of the Eager Beavers presented Mrs. Hall with a thank you card for the family's assistance.

Gary and Robert Cahill also are extending the thanks contained in the card to those people who also helped with the program for the mentally retarded.

Collecting thank you's were the Family and Neighborhood Services, City of Romulus government, Romulus Recreation Department, Romulus Board of Education, Romulus Jaycees and Jaycee Auxiliary, Eager Beavers' Volunteer Committee and those residents not affiliated to an organization.

Plan aids handicapped

Western Wayne County persons with handicaps will benefit from a comprehensive recruitment and placement program within the state's civil service system, according to State Personnel Director Richard Ross.

The statewide project, which begins Aug. 9, is the result of an agreement between the Michigan Civil Service Commission and the State Department of Education.

The joint agreement implements recommendations made to the Civil Service Commission last November by the Task Force on Employment of Persons with Handicaps.

Loran Graham, an executive with the Detroit Office of Vocational Rehabilitation Services, has been appointed to administer the program. The 45-year-old Detroit resident has had extensive experience in coordinating programs for persons with handicaps at all levels of government, Ross said.

Graham will be responsible for providing technical assistance to state agencies in the development and implementation of their affirmative action employment plans for persons with handicaps.

Additionally, he will develop a program which provides applicants for employment in state government an opportunity to benefit from rehabilitation services, such as work site accommodations.

Fireman attends meet

A member of the fire department at Detroit Metropolitan Airport in Romulus was among 100 airport fire fighters from throughout the United States who attended the fifth annual Crash-Fire Rescue Training Program in Oklahoma City, Okla. Fire Sgt. William Osborne took part in a 1-week comprehensive course.

The highlight of the course took place when each of the visiting fire fighters attacked an actual aviation fuel fire. Their special crash-fire-rescue skills were put to the test when a C-121 Constellation was repeatedly set ablaze with aviation fuel.

Glenn's goal is to win title

Lutri has 15 veterans ready for grid action

By TOM MOORADIAN
Eagle Sports Editor

Though there has been a changing of the guards, of sorts, at Westland John Glenn, the goal remains the same for newly-appointed head football coach Jerry Lutri.

"Our team goal this season is to win the Northwest Suburban Conference championship," Lutri said.

That is an enviable goal. However, there is one problem: the title is held by Livonia Franklin, which just happens to be the defending Class A state champ.

Lutri doesn't have to be told the facts of life in the Northwest. He has served as an assistant coach for the past three seasons to Lloyd Carr, the man he replaced. Carr resigned to become an assistant coach at Eastern Michigan University, and Lutri was moved up to the head coaching job. He inherited an 8-1 over-all record.

"Carr is a hard man but a very good man to follow," said Lutri who prepped at Stephenson High School in the U.P. and played four years of football at Northern Michigan University.

"Franklin is going to be the team to beat again in the league — they have carried that label for some time, but watch out for Garden City East as well," Lutri continued.

East also will be guided by a rookie coach, Carl Stevens who replaced veteran Gary Humphrey. Humphrey stepped down to become the high school's athletic director.

Lutri hopes to bring Glenn its first Northwest Suburban Conference football title outright by using a hard-core of excellently conditioned veterans and the talent of last year's reserve squad which finished 7-1 and in a tie for the league title a year ago.

"I feel we're physically ready right now to play, thanks to our weight-lifting program," Lutri said, "and these boys are eager to get started."

Glenn's starting date is Sept. 18 when the Rockets will host non-league rival, Garden City West, at 8 p.m. The Westlanders also have Class A nonleague games with Livonia Churchill, Southfield Lathrup, Berkley and Wayne

Perfect champs

J&D Auto Parts compiled an undefeated 12-0 record to win the Wayne Parks and Recreation's Class A women's softball and playoff titles this season. The team will represent the city in the state MPRA finals to be held over the Labor Day weekend at Mt. Pleasant. The championship team's lineup included: (kneeling, from left)

Westland tennis tourney draws record 350 players

A record-field of 350 players competed in Westland Parks and Recreation's Open Tennis Tournament held over the weekend at the Multi-Purpose Arena.

And when the smoke cleared 14 players were wearing tennis crowns.

Jack Kingsbury of Detroit survived his test with John Pinek, taking two sets 7-5 and 6-4 to capture the Westland men's single title, while Patty Piel of Livonia turned back Dearborn Heights' Joan Kunzelman to win 7-5 and 6-4 to wind up as the women's singles champ.

The men's doubles went three sets before Rich Roscoe and partner Aniteto Munez emerged with the championship. They defeated Jerry Lawrence and Rip Ramirez of Allen Park 5-7, 6-4, and 7-6.

Meanwhile, Lil Beuscher and Peggy Morgan reached the finals of the women's double competition where they met and defeated Margaret Montrose and Rita Hall of Windsor in sets of 6-4 and 7-5.

Competition also was keen in the boys junior divisions. In the 15 and under age group, Belleville's Mike McClure won the championship trophy by whipping Allen Parker, Gary Phill in two sets, 6-3 and 6-4.

Theresa Lutus was crowned the girls 15 and under city champ when she stopped Livonia's Barb Irons 6-3 and 6-4.

It was close also in the boys 18 and under singles contest. Steve LaFountain and Todd Beyer reached the finals and Beyer managed to win the first set 6-3, however, LaFountain regained his poise and came back to win the final two sets 6-3 and 7-6.

LaFountain then teamed with Rob Jablonski to become the tournament's lone double winner as the twosome shook Leroy Blevins and Chris Kaczor 6-2 and 6-0 to top the 18 and under doubles' field.

Robin Walker, recently a winner in the Wayne Tournament, picked up her second title as she defeated Valerie Finfrock 6-3 and 6-0 to claim the 18 and under girls singles championship.

Miss Walker and her brother, Karl, lost to Judd Kingsbury and Mrs. Benawetz in the finals of the mixed doubles 4-6, 6-3 and 6-4.

"It was an excellent tournament," said Chuck Pickering, tournament manager. "Whenever you have over 350 entries there will be problems, but it also indicates that this is a very popular meet with the area tennis players."

Westlander finishes 2nd in bowling

Gail Rogin, a 21-year-old Westland resident, representing the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation, finished second in bowling at the inaugural Regional Cerebral Palsy Games.

The games were held last weekend and were sponsored by the Detroit Parks and Recreation Department and the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Detroit.

The participants were Cerebral Palsied athletes from Ohio and Michigan.

Gail competed in the wheelchair division of women's bowling and rolled games of 58, 110 and 114 to win a second place ribbon.

Gail resides at 35238 John Hawk in Westland.

Repeat performance

Tennis standout Robin Walker (at left) who recently won the Wayne Tournament by beating Val Finfrock (at right) came back to add her second title when she again stopped Miss Finfrock in the singles competition for girls, 18 and under, at the Westland Open. Miss Walker is a junior at Wayne Memorial High School.

Belleville swim date set

The first day of practice for the Belleville High School girl's swim team will be held immediately following registration on Sept. 7.

Swim team members must have their physical examination form completed and permission slips signed by their parents. The forms are available for those swimmers needing them from the athletic director, Harry Hidenfelter.

For further information, contact Harriette Rash at 761-5788.

Shifting into gear

Nine-year-old John Nagy isn't wasting any time preparing for the 1976-77 hockey campaign. The young Wayne skater, armed with his hockey stick and equipment, joined 70 other players this week at the Can-Am Summer Hockey Training Camp which is holding sessions at the Wayne Community Center.

With the hockey season just around the corner, the Wayne Youth Hockey Association is making its first call for players.

The WYHA will conduct registration for all Wayne boys and girls who want to play hockey during 1976-77 winter season beginning at noon until 4 p.m., Sat., Sept. 11 at the Wayne Community Center.

Registration fee for boys, ages 4 to 12, is $4; boys 13 to 19, $10. The girls' registration fee, ages 8 to 12, is $5 and 14 to 18, $10.

The parks and recreation's figure skating program will also get underway on Sept. 14, and those wishing to sign up may do so from 2 to 6 p.m., Sat., Sept. 11.

Instructors will be on hand to assign skaters to classes.

The parks and recreation department announced that late registration will be accepted at the ticket office on Sept. 13. Class sessions, which last eight weeks - each class is 45 minutes - will begin Sept. 13.

For non-residents who will be skating in the program for the first time there is a higher registration fee.

The adult archery program will be held Thursday at the Attwood Pool Building beginning Sept. 23. Archers will get together from 7 p.m. and shoot until 10 p.m.

Sessions will be held every Thursday through March, with the exception of Oct. 14, 21 and 28. Depending upon response, the program may be divided into instructional classes for beginners and open practice sessions for the advanced archer.

The fee is $1 per night for residents and $1.50 for non-residents. Equipment is provided for those who do not own their own.

Persons interested in Yoga may register at the community center this week. Registration is $12 and classes, of 8-week duration, will begin on Tues., Sept. 21. The classes will run from 7 to 8:30 p.m. There will be an intermediate class at 8:30 until 9:30 p.m.

To qualify for the intermediate class, the participant must have taken two sessions at the beginner's level.

Boys and girls in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades in Wayne Elementary Schools - Taft, Washington, Vanderburg, St. Mary's, Roosevelt, Monroe, Hoover and Jackson - will begin youth recreation starting the week of Sept. 13.

For further information about any of these programs or any other Wayne parks and recreation program, please contact the recreation department at 721-7400.

Glenn's goal: Northwest title

Memorial to go along with their league commitments to East, Franklin, North Farmington and Thurston.

Lutri will stay "basically with the same kind of strategy offensively (slot-I) that the team has been utilizing for the past three years.

"The kids know it well," Lutri stressed, "and when you go 8-1, (Glenn's only loss was to Franklin last year) there's no sense in changing it."

Though Glenn lost some excellent gridders through graduation - All-Area candidates Fred Shoemaker, a tailback who is a second string halfback at Northern Michigan, (the national small college champ) and quarterback Todd DeLuca, Lutri has 15 lettermen ready to go.

Bill Lee is being groomed to take over DeLuca's signal-calling job. The 5-11, 165-pound senior has good speed and quickness plus an excellent throwing arm. Lee's back-up man is Jim Irwin, who is very promising.

Jeff Preston, who played behind DeLuca last year, has been moved to the tailback slot. He's a 6-1, 180-pound senior, and tri-captain Mike Holton, who has developed into a rugged 6-0, 205-pound senior, will handle the fullback chores.

Glenn's backfield also includes junior Jerry Cook, a 5-10, 170-pound running slotback.

The Rockets' offensive line is anchored by Dave Evans, a 210-pound, 5-11 tackle who probably will work overtime on defense. Glenn has experienced linesmen in guard Bob Bird (5-11, 175), center Tim McBride (6-1, 180), Mark Grabowski, (6-2, 200-pounds).

Grabowski has earned All-Area stripes in football and wrestling and will be utilized by Lutri as a tight end.

Cliff Williamson, a 5-10, 150-pound senior, Mark Sciborski, 5-9, 140-pound, and Steve Cabrera have the inside track for the wide receiver's job. Williamson and Sciborski starred with the Glenn title-winning track team.

If Glenn and Lutri are pretty well settled on offense, it's a completely different story when it comes to the defense. The defense will be stocked with "a lot of juniors who are inexperienced."

"We lost a lot of seniors who excelled on defense last year," said Lutri, "and we're going to have to find replacements with our juniors. Our defense will be green and untested, but we do have a lot of size and tough kids to fill the key positions."

CHUCK SQUIRES

WSU has Westlander as center

Chuck Squires, an All-Area griddy and wrestler last year at Westland John Glenn, apparently has nailed down a position on Wayne State University's varsity football team.

Squires, a 6-1, 210 pound versatile athlete, has been shifted to center after initially being recruited as a defensive tackle, according to Tartars' head Coach Dick Lowry.

The Tartars have been thin at center behind two-year starter John Sokolosky and Squires could give the dependable snapper a breather in the high-powered 1976 schedule.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

No one actually pours gasoline into his radiator, but a car's cooling system can be responsible for reducing gasoline mileage. So can other car parts that have no connection, you might think, to actual fuel consumption. Since the condition of the cooling system affects engine performance, abnormalities in cooling temperatures curtail gasoline mileage. A faulty thermostat, causing an engine to run too cool, creates a condition where more gas is needed to maintain power. Have your radiator checked thoroughly.

Check your car's engine periodically to make sure it is ready to go when you are! You'll find all the parts and tools you need at KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan Ave., Inkster. We are known as the "House of a Million Parts", and carry a complete inventory of quality parts and accessories for foreign and domestic cars. Our friendly personnel will be happy to help you select the parts you need for your particular car. We also offer a complete machine shop repair service. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 A.M. until 8 P.M., and on Saturdays until 5 P.M.

HANDY HINT:
Underinflated tires can create a drag on the engine. Check your tires periodically.

Romulus SLL wins Suburban loop title

Taking two of three from Lincoln Park Central, Romulus South Little League ended the 1976 campaign by winning the Suburban League baseball playoff championship last week.

South buried Central 11-4 in the first game and took the finale 4-2. The two wins were sandwiched between a close 5-4 loss.

In the first game, South received a seven-hit pitching effort from Don McMann and Mick Ruffolo.

McMann had captured the pitching spotlight during the last half of the season, along with Rick Britz. Both pitchers also provided Romulus South with an offensive punch.

Britz and McMann hit home runs and paced the team in the second game of the doubleheader, which Romulus South lost in 10 innings, 5-4.

South exploded for seven runs in the second inning of the first game to give McMann more than enough for the pitching victory.

The second game went into 10 innings, as South fell for a split in the games. Mark Kelly and McMann provided the big offensive effort for South.

The highlight of the championship game, played on Sunday, was outstanding pitching from the team's youngest pitcher, Mike Marsiglia.

Manager Merle Kelly raved after the game at Marsiglia's performance on the mound.

Going the entire distance, Marsiglia scattered five hits, and struck out nine batters. The masterful pitching in the key game gave Romulus South the championship.

Marsiglia was in control the entire game, and rallied the South team to victory.

Don McMann and Rick Britz drove in runs with key hits in the third inning and South scored three runs.

A lone run in the sixth inning accounted for the final Romulus run.

The aircraft swoops low, a door opens and it's "bombs away" as the pilot quickly regains altitude and heads off for another area. Sounds like something from a recent war, doesn't it?

Actually, it's just an experiment the Department of Natural Resources is conducting on a couple of its public shooting areas in southern Michigan. The "bombs" are live pheasants being released from the air. The method is being tried out to see whether there will be better distribution of the ringnecks which have a chance to fly into good cover.

Vic Janson, wildlife biologist for the DNR "put-and-take" program, admits there has been criticism from hunters over the truck release method. Birds dumped out of crates on the ground often just run for the closest cover and bunch up there until hunters come along and find them and the shooting begins.

The Beaver aircraft, so familiar in Canada as a bush plane, appears to be most suitable for the DNR project here. It can be flown as slowly as 55 m.p.h. so the birds will sail out at a safe speed. Dropping the pheasants from a height of 200 feet was just about right, pilots found. When they were released higher than that, they often kept right on going and flew away from the public shooting area where they were supposed to land.

Why not use a helicopter? DNR tried that, too, but pilots were leery about the thought of a pheasant maybe flying into one of the rotors and breaking it. Whirlybirds don't function too well with part of a rotor missing.

Original tests on the aerial planting were made at the Dansville State Game Area but findings were still not conclusive at this writing. It was found, for one thing, that the Beaver could carry only about 150 pheasants at a time so it might prove to be too expensive to haul the birds by air even though distribution might be better and the hunting more sporting later on.

Still, the experiment before the season proved so promising that DNR has decided to try it on at least one public shooting area this fall. Therefore, if you happen to be hunting in southern Michigan on one of the 20 open areas and see a plane making its "bombling run" toward you, don't get a horrified look and dive for cover. The "bombs" will be wearing feathers.

Playoffs decide South Little League champ

Romulus South Little League Senior Baseball Division brought the curtains down on the 1976 campaign but not before a post-season playoff thriller.

Commercial Carriers and Polka Dot were forced to settle their title differences when the two arch rivals wound up in a "dead heat" for first place.

The two met in the special playoff and Polka Dot emerged from the duel an easy 9-1 winner.

However, Commercial Carriers drew first blood as it scored in the opening inning but, from then on, winning pitcher Jim Sullivan settled down and gathered "goose eggs" the rest of the way.

Troy Adams was tagged with the loss. He gave up a key double to Scott Wilcox who accounted for the tying, and what proved to be the winning run in the second inning.

Gerry LaFramboise and Vic Bird each collected two hits for the winners while Mark Boling and Adams picked up a pair of hits for the losers.

The final league results and the team managers, listed in parenthesis, are as follows: Polka Dot Market (Cyril Bird), Commercial Carriers (Barry Baumann), Baum Funeral Home (Mike Spears), Canejo Trucking (Dan Doss), Daly Restaurants (Chuck Cady).

All-Star manager Baumann also announced this week that Adams was voted the "Most Valuable Player" on the 1976 All-Star team. The vote selection was made by the players on the team.

Adams pitched against Detroit Southwest, gave up two hits, struck out seven in winning. He also counted two hits in each of the South All-Star games.

Inter-city champs

Canton's Class B entry claims tournament title

Wearing the colors of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball Class F League, the Hawkeyes captured the Inter-City Baseball Tournament held in Livonia.

Some 14 teams from the area were represented at the tournament.

The Hawkeyes drew a bye in the first round but had to face a strong fielding team from Westland.

Westland bats were silenced that day as they were held to only two hits. The Hawkeyes started the first inning with a five run attack and ended the game with a 14 to 1 victory.

Team member Dave Meador went 4-for-4 with teammates Frank McMurray, Bill Lomax, Carl Lambert, Ken Holtan and Todd Abram getting two hits or more each.

A team from Dearborn provided the strongest opposition for the Hawkeyes.

Dave Meador again led the hitting attack by going 3 for 4. Steve Schumacher, Frank McMurray, Carl Lambert and Ken Holtan had 2 hits each as Canton scored a 10 to 6 victory.

This set the stage for the final game against Roseville and starting pitcher Dan Funkhouser, a pick-up player from the Spartans, pitched the first two innings before giving way to Ken Holtan.

The two pitchers held the Roseville team to only two hits. A pitching change was made to allow Dave Meador, an ace pitcher during the season, to pitch in his last game of the season.

Again strong fielding and good hitting provided the Hawkeyes with a 13-0 victory. This time the hitting attack was led by catcher Frank McMurray who went 3-for-3.

Steve Schumacher, Carl Lambert, Todd Abram and Dan Funkhouser had two hits each.

The Hawkeyes are coached by Paul Meador and Frank McMurray.

Asked what he thought about the team's performance, Coach Meador said, "It was a total team effort."

"Every starter had at least one hit and each scored a run."

McMurray added, "It took the whole season for these boys to peak but they were ready for this tournament. They took the skills they had developed and used them for the victory."

"And we would like to thank all of the people in our league and the parents of the players who have supported us during the season."

Rounding out the roster on the Hawkeyes are: Greg Etienne, Ken Holtan, Dave Meador, Frank Mc-

Murray, Steve Schumacher, Brian Campbell, Jay Parks, Scott Terwilliger, Carl Lambert, Bill Lomax, Jeff Meyers, Craig Pierson, Scott Lidak, Larry Baldry and Todd Abram.

Doubles finalists

pairs fought it out for the doubles championship and Van Dam and Terwilliger managed to pull out the victory in three sets 6-4, 5-7 and 6-4 to come away with the winning trophies.
